JEFFRIES IS KNOCKED OUT IN FIFTEEN ROUND MILL

Jack Johnson, the Pugilist, Defeats James J. Jeffries Hitherto Undefeated Champion of the Prize Ring in the World—The White Man Clearly Outclassed at all Point of the Game.

Reno, Nev., July 4.—John Arthur Johnson, a Texas negro, son of an American slave, tonight is the first and undisputed heavy-weight champion pugilist of the world.

James J. Jeffries, of California, winner of 22 championship fights, the man who never was brought to his knees before by a blow, tonight passed into history as a broken idol. He met utter defeat at the hands of the black champion in the 15th round.

While Jeffries was not actually counted out, he was saved only from this crowning shame by his friends pleading with Johnson not to hit the fallen man again, and the towel was brought into the ring from his corner. At the end of the 15th round, Referee Tex Rickard raised the black arm, and the great crowd filed out, glum and silent.

Jeffries was dragged to nis corner, bleeding from nose and mouth, and a dozen cuts on the face. He had a black, closed eye, and swollen features, and he held his head in his hands dazed.

Johnson walked out of the ring without a mark on his body, except a slight cut on his lip, which was the opening of a wound suffered in training.

Ring experts agree that it was not even a championship fight. Jeffries had a chance in the second round, perhaps, but after the sixth, it was plain that he was weakened and outclassed in every point. After the 11th round it was hopeless.

It was the greatest demonstration the ring has ever seen of the failure of a fighter to "come back" after years of retirement.

The youth and the science of the black man made Jeffries look like a green man. The great Jeffries was like a log. The reviled Johnson was like a black panther, beautiful in his alertness and defensive tactics.

Jeffries fought by instinct, it seemed, showing his gameness and his great fighting heart in every round, but he was only the shell of his old self. The old power to take a terrible beating and bore in until he landed the knock-out blow was gone.

After the third round, Johnson treated his opponent almost as a joke. He smiled and blocked playfully, warding off the bear-like rushes of Jeffries with a marvelous science, now tucking a blow under his arm, again plucking it out of the air as a man stops a baseball.

Out of the sea of opinions and arguments that bolstered up this fight and made it the talk of the world, these pinnacles of fact have been cast up:

The fight was on the square. Of that there was no doubt after the first round.

There was no evidence or hint of the famous "yellow streak" on the part of Johnson.

Johnson proved himself so absolutely Jeffries' master that experts such as W. Corbett, an Australian sporting and ring expert, declared that Tommy Burns had put up a better fight against Johnson, and that the black man was only playing with the other man.

The end was swift and terrible. It looked as though Johnson had been holding himself under cover all the rest of the time; and now that he had measured Jeffries in all his weakness, he had determined to stop it quickly.

Jeffries had lost the power of defense. A series of right and left upper-cuts delivered at will sent him staggering to the ropes. He turned and fought back by instinct, as though he were dying hard.

With the exception of a few fast rounds, the fight was tame. Jeffries did not have the power in punch to hurt Johnson after he had received blow after blow on the jaw, and his vital power was ebbing. But even before this stage came, Jeffries could not reach the black. The blows almost all of them, landed with all the speed taken out of them. It was like hitting a punching bag.

With no preliminaries of hand-shaking or picture posing the men faced each other at 2:45 o'clock. Johnson wore blue tights and the American flag as his belt. Jeffries in his purple trunks stood out as a hairy giant, some hero of folk lore.

There was no open attempt on the the part of Jeffries and men to frighten the negro. They figured he would be trembling with fear at the sight of the white monster and there were many cries of "cold feet, Johnson," when his entrance in the ring was delayed.

And when the men stood up at last to fight it out it was plain that the negro was very nervous.

"Now, you'll get it, you black coward" yelled Jeffries' admirers.

"Don't talk to them, give them a fair show" said the majority at the ring-side.

The men smiled at each other. Jeffries feinted, Johnson glided away, the men smiled again. Johnson tried out a straight left and tapped Jeffries' face. They clinched and worked cautiously for body blows, but there was little snap in either and they were still walking when the round ended.

"Cut out the motion pictures," yelled the crowd. Johnson turned and tapped Jeffries lightly on the shoulder as he went to his corner, and smiled.

At the opening of the second round Jeffries came up with his old crouch and his left arm stuck out like a scantling. But there was a change in the negro. He had found himself. Here was a simple boxer and in his heart Jack Johnson believed he was master.

The slight indecision and trembling of Johnson's mouth and the glint of trouble in his eyes was gone. He forced the fighting and in a clinch made his first attempt at his carefully developed right upper-cut. Jeffries took it without flinching. The men wrestled and Johnson showed that he was as strong as Jeffries.

"All right Jim, I'll love you if you want me to," said Johnson as they clinched just after the gong rang.

In the second, third and fourth rounds Jeffries had his chance if he ever had one. The fight showed that he could not stay long.

Jeffries passed by his chance and kept walking in and missing body blows and taking face punishment. Up to this point, however, the fight was little more than a wrestling bout. The men refused to break in clinches and at times half a minute passed without a blow.

Jeffries assumed his crouch and started for Johnson as if he would mow him down with one blow. But the black was not there. His shadow fell across the spot where Jeffries' blow was aimed. They came together and Johnson missed for the fourth time, a damaging right upper-cut. Here he began to try out his new blow, a left upper-cut, testing it for the first time.

"He'll kill you, Jack," yelled a sportsman who had bet $10,000 on Jeffries.

"That's what they all say," retorted Johnson, and for answer he shot a snappy left to Jeffries' face and they came to a clinch. In this round Jeffries landed a body blow that came near hurting Johnson. It was the only round in which Jeffries had an advantage and at the opening of the fifth Johnson came up as good as new. The pace up to and through this round was slow. Neither man was badly hurt.

"That left was a joke; you big stiff I always knew you were a faker," shouted Corbett as Johnson stung Jeffries in the face. Jeffries brought cheers at this point by a left to the head, but a clinch and the gong saved further damage.

The tide of battle from this time flowed into the Johnson corner and Delaney was hopping in glee.

"Go in and finish him" was the advice which he whispered to Johnson.

"It's all over for you Jim," said Johnson as he came up. Jeffries laughed and chewed his gum. In this round Jeffries' eye was closed and he started in to take a severe lacing in order to land the stomach blow which he and his backers depended on. Jeffries missed a right and took a left and a rignt to the head. His nose was bleeding when the gong struck. The fighting in the seventh was somewhat faster, but at no time did Jeffries live up to expectations. His eye was swollen and he rubed it as he leaned on the glistening black shoulder in the clinches. As they pushed each other around Johnson sent in lefts to the face at close range. Jeffries drew a lead and put in a left to the face that covered Johnson's teeth with blood but Jack laughed and in a mix-up sent in two lefts to the face and Jeffries' mouth was streaked with blood.

Jeffries got a left in the face at the opening of the eighth. Johnson's blows became quicked and harder during this round but Jeffries was not badly hurt, only tiring faster than the spectators realized. He leaned forward, his eye fixed on a vital spot on Johnson's body, trying again and again to reach it. Johnson tried to put his upper-cut

The Jeffries crouch was in evidence at times, but during most of the fight Jeffries was found standing straight and working with something of his old aggressiveness.

The fifteenth round started with a clinch after Jeffries had failed to land on the body. Johnson then tore loose and before the spectators were prepared for the finish, he had sent Jeffries down with lightning left and right blows to the jaw. Jeffries reeled and fell half way through the ropes on the west side of the ring. Those near him saw that he lost sense of his surroundings and the faces at the ringside were a blur to him. His time had come. He was feeling what he had caused others to feel in the days of his youth and power.

Johnson went over to the spot and stood poised over his adversary, his body ready for a left hook if Jeffries regained his feet.

Jim Corbett, who twice had gone down before Jeffries' blows and who had stood in Jeffries' corner all during this fight telling Johnson what a fool he was and how he was in for the greatest beating of his life, now ran forward with outstretched arms, crying: "Oh, go back; don't hit him." Jeffries painfully raised himself to his feet. His jaw had dropped; his eyes were nearly shut, and his face cover-

BIG FOUR WRECK NINETEEN DEAD

Freight and Passenger Train In Head-on Collision on Cincinnati Branch.

MANY ARE ALSO INJURED

Misunderstanding of Orders the Cause. Freight Was Attempting to Make Siding—Crash Was Awful. Freight Crew Escaped.

Middletown, O., July 4.—Nineteen persons were killed outright, three probably fatally hurt and half a dozen were seriously injured in a head-on collision between a freight and passenger train on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad here today. Of the killed 18 were passengers, the other victim being a member of the passenger train crew.

Nearly all the dead and injured were from various parts of Ohio. Southen people inpured were:

James L. H. Kennedy, Louisville, Ky., right leg and ribs broken.

W. S. Erskine, of Memphis, Tenn., back injured, seriously hurt.

Will Litzey, Harrodsburg, Ky., badly burned, condition doubtful.

A. F. Dayton, Latonia, Ky., condition serious.

Frank Edwards, Latonia, Ky.

The trains were the Cincinnati section of the Twentieth Century Limited on the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad (Big Four) and the second section of a freight train on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road.

The latter was attempting to make a siding to give the passenger train a clear track when the flying Limited, traveling 50 miles an hour, flashed around a curve and crashed into it.

The "Big Four" train had been detoured to avoid a blocked track on that road at Genoa, a few miles south of here, caused by a freight wreck earlier in the day.

A misunderstanding of orders caused a disaster, which was one of the worst that this section of the country has ever experienced.

Pilot Engineer George Wald had received orders to wait at Post Town, a siding station three miles north of this city, according to railroad officers. The freight train was to have passed him there but was late in pulling out of Middletown. Instead of the seven minutes margin which Wald thought he had to reach Mittdetown, the time was less than five minutes. The first section of the freight train had taken the siding here and Conductor John Weaver, in charge of the second section, tried to reach the north end of the siding. Before his train had cleared the switch points, the passenger train rounded a curve screened by the thickly dooded lots on each side of the track. The engine crews had time to jump and all escaped serious injury.

The crash when the trains met was terrific. The freight was made up of gondola cars, flat cars and box cars loaded with lumber.

Directly behind the passenger locomotive and the tender was a combination baggage and smoking car followed by a day coach and a chair car. All the dead and injured were in the first two cars, there being six passengers in the smoker and 21 in the day coach.

The engines locked into a mass of smashed steel and iron, the heavy passenger locomotive telescoping its smaller fellow as far as the cab. First in the freight train were a steel coal car and a box car loaded with six inch timbers.

The heavy gondola car ripped the floor out of the combination car and tossed it and the locomotive tender down a ten foot embankment into corn field.

The timbers in the car following were driven with terrific force into the day coach, which mounted the gondola car and split it in two.

Every seat in this coach was torn from its fastenings, the roof was thrown to one side and the heavy weight of massive timbers, hurled with awful force, struck among the men and women in the coach. Even before the crash came rescuing parties were running to the wreck from Middletown station of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, some 300 yards south of the accident.

Every surgeon in town was summoned to the place and calls for assistance were sent to Dayton and Hamilton.

Relief trains were made up at each of these places and the injured were placed upon them and sent to hospitals in those cities.

Coroner J. A. Burnett was summoned from Hamilton and immediately began an inquiry into the cause of the wreck.

CLUB GOES TO PETERSBURG.

Franchise of Portsmouth Team is Transferred to That City.

Norfolk, Va., July 3.—At a meeting of the directors of the Virginia Baseball League held at Ocean View today the franchise of the Portsmouth baseball team was transferred to Petersburg.

Petersburg made a hard fight to secure the franchise, and it was the opinion of a majority of the directors that the interest in the game was greater in Petersburg than in Portsmouth.

CLASH OF RACES IN MANY SECTIONS

Bad Feeling Engendered Between Whites and Blacks Over Prize Fight.

MANY INJURES, SOME KILLED

Marines Took a Hand in Norfolk—In Dozen Other Cities and Towns of the United States.

Norfolk, Va., July 4.—Jack Johnson by defeating Jim Jeffries today was responsible for the worst race riots this city has experienced in many years. Hundreds of enlisted men from various battleships of this station, aided by youths attacked negroes all over the city, and tonight many are in the hospital with broken heads and bruised bodies.

Three hundred sailors marched through the streets hunting for negroes. They beat a negro almost to death against the postoffice building and bloodstains were left on the stonework.

Practically every cell at police headquarters and the second district station are filled with negroes, sailors, and young white citizens. Police Chief Kizer late tonight requested Major L. W. T. Waller to send assistance, and a detachments of marines and sailors heavily armed, were hurried to the city.

The situation was under control early this morning, but more trouble is feared. E. Keville Clennan, city editor of the Virginian-Pilot, had his collar bone broken by being struck with a brick thrown by a negro. Mr. Glennan is now at St. Vincent's Hospital.

In Springfield.

Springfield, O., July 4.—Many fights between negroes and whites as a result of the feeling following the Jeffries-Johnson fight have taken place in local pool rooms tonight. The police fear an outbreak between the races similar to the riots here years ago.

Augusta, Ga., July 4.—Three negroes were killed at Uvaldia, a small town of South Georgia, yesterday during a race riot, which may result in more fatalities. So far no whites have been injured.

In Jeffries' Home.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 4.—Riot calls were numerous in James J. Jeffries' home city today. Flushed with small cash winnings, several negroes sallied forth and looked for trouble. Eight men, three white and five colored, were treated at the receiving hospital.

A Clash in Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., July 4.—Trouble between the blacks and whites as an outgrowth of the Jeffries-Johnson fight was narrowly averted tonight when the police arrested half a dozen whites and one negro. The black yelled "Hurrah for Johnson" on a crowded downtown street. He held a knife in his hand and in an instant several white men had struck him. The police used their clubs freely after the whites had chased the negro into an alley.

The streets are thronged with men of both races in a nasty humor, but the police are vigilant and say they can prevent trouble. The first disorder arose at the Grand Opera House where a mixed audience heard the fight bulletins read. Later, some negroes started a parade to celebrate the victory of their fellow black. This the police stopped at once. On the order of the police commission, the mounted men, the reserves and detective force were called out and the downtown streets patrolled.

Race Clash at Fort Worth.

Fort Worth, Texas, July 4.—Minor disturbances between white and blacks broke out here following the announcement of Johnson's victory over Jeffries this afternoon. The most serious was an attack by two negresses on a white woman, the latter being seriously hurt by blows on the head with beer bottles.

In Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 4.—Less than half an hour after the decision of the fight was announced here three riot calls were sent in to the police precincts in the negro hill district. Street cars were held up, and insulting epithets were hurled at the passengers. The police beat the crowds back with their clubs to permit the passage of street cars. Patrolmen have been summoned to this district from all sections of the city.

In New York City.

New York, July 4.—Rioting between white and blacks broke out in seven different points in the city tonight following the announcement of the result of the Jeffries-Johnson fight. One negro was dragged from a street car and badly beaten before being rescued.

Trouble at Houston.

Houston, Texas, July 4.—Disturbances broke out immediately tonight on the announcement of the Johnson victory at Reno. Three negroes were badly hure inside of an hour after the flash of the result and the police were called to quell several minor disturbances and to break up fist fights. Chas. Williams, a negro, was a little too vociferous in announcing the outcome on a street car and a white man slashed his throat from ear to ear. The negro almost bled to death be-

RURAL CARRIERS HEAR DEGRAW

Addressed North Carolina Convention at Raleigh Yesterday—Relates Conditions of the Service. A Feature Day.

Raleigh, N. C., July 4.—Reviewing in great detail the legislative history attending the development of the rural free delivery service in this country, P. V. DeGraw, fourth assistant postmaster general, today declared that "from the viewpoint of morale", that service was far in advance of any other of the civil service. In order to sustain that claim for excellence the fourth assistant postmaster general quoted statistics to show that last year out of 41,000 carriers only 175 had been dismissed for cause.

Mr. DeGraw's address was delivered before the North Carolina State convention of Rural Carriers, assembled here. He appeared as the representative of the Postmaster General.

"There are now in operation throughout the United States 41,089 rural routes, served by 41,007 rural carriers," he said, in summing up the present force engaged in that work. "The appropriations for the establishment and maintenance of rural delivery for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1910, was $37,260,000, and the appropriation for the fiscal year which commenced July 1, 1910, is $38,860,000. Since rural delivery was first established the approximate sum of $206,430,800 has been spent in extending and maintaining the service."

Reverting to the beginning of the rural free delivery service Mr. DeGraw said:

"For a good many years the residents of the larger cities had enjoyed the privilege of having their mail delivered to them by carriers at their residences daily. Based upon a recommendation made by Postmaster General Wannamaker, a joint resolution was passed by the 51st Congress and approved on October 1, 1890 authorizing the Postmaster General to test at small towns and villages the practicability and expense of extending the free delivery system to offices of the third and fourth class and other offices not embraced in the free delivery. The experiment was put on trial and continued until three years later when Postmaster General Bissell, in his report for the fiscal year 1894, recommended that the service be discontinued or extended to 40,000 other postoffices. Congress accepted the first alternative and discontinued the appropriation.

"After several unsuccessful attempts to establish rural free delivery an experimental service was begun on October 1, 1896 and between that date and June 30, 1897, there were 83 routes established out of 43 postoffices in 29 States. This beginning was made upon appropriations aggregating $40,000 and the results obtained proved that the experimental service had rendered benefits in excess of the expenditures involved and that under wise restrictions it could be continued with advantage.

"When it is stated that rural carriers throughout the United States travel 304,000,000 miles a year it seems incomprehensible and beyond belief," said Mr. DeGraw, who then reviewed the growth of the service in North and South Carolina and in Georgia.

FULLER'S SUCCESSOR.

President Taft Declines to Discuss Whom He Will Appoint.

Beverly, Mass., July 4.—While the President declines definitely to commit himself in any way, it is regarded here tonight as practicaly certain that Governor Hughes, of New York, will be the next chief justice of the United States Supreme Court. Governor Hughes already has accepted appointment as an associate justice and his nomination to that place has been confirmed by he Senate. As matters stand at present, Governor Hughes is foremost in the President's eye.

CONDUCTOR WOUNDED.

Obstreperous Negro Shot Down Railroad Man in Louisiana.

Tallulah, La., July 4.—When Conductor Roberts, of the Iron Mountain Railroad demanded fare of Enos Stetson, a negro, near here this afternoon, the latter shot Roberts down. The conductor is probably mortally wounded. He was rushed to the railroad hospital at Magee, Ark. Stetson jumped from the train and he is being searched for by a large crowd of armed citizens tonight. That he will be lynched if caught, seems certain.

HON. CHAMP CLARK TO TAMMANY HALL

Attacked Republican and Spoke of Bright Democratic Outlook.

IN FOURTH OF JULY ADDRESS

Arraigns Extravagance and Referred to Attitude of People in United States—Must Fight to Win. Poetry.

New York, July 4.—Champ Clark, of Missouri, Democratic leader of the House of Representatives, attacked the Republican party and spoke of the Democratic outlook in a speech at the Tammany Hall celebration of July 4th, today. He said:

"Democrats celebrate the birthday of the Republic under more favorable auspices this year than at any time since 1893.

"Republican factionists are at each other's throats in the House of Representatives, in the Senate and throughout the land. More power to their arms!

"I bring to you the glad tidings of great joy that the Democrats in the House of Representatives have laid aside the weight which for years did so easily beset us, that of fighting each other, and recently have presented a solid and united front to the common enemy. We are no longer a feeble, wrangling, querulous, dispirited body, but a courageous, vigilant, virile, hopeful, militant band, not only ready but eager for the fray.

"Notwithstanding the fact that at the beginning of this Congress the Republicans had 47 majority in the House and, even after the casualties in the Fourteenth District of Massachusetts and the Rochester District of New York, they still have 43 majority, we have fought several drawn battles with them and have gained some great victories—notably on March 19th last, when we performed the great surgical operation of clipping Mr. Speaker Cannon's claws. In that momentous movement in the cause of good government every Democratic member did his duty and, in the immortal words of Admiral Schley, 'There is glory enough for all.' So utterly were the Republicans rounted, so thoroughly were they demoralized, that Mr. Speaker Cannon publicly declared that there was no longer a Republican majority in the House.

"If a member of the Sixtieth Congress had gone to sleep March 4, 1909, and, after the manner of Rip Van Winkle, had slumbered till the evening of June 17, 1910, and had then looked into the House and seen it pass a rule by the enormous majority of 201 to 1 to prevent committees from pigeonholing or smothering bills, which resolution I introduced, he would have pinched himself to see if he were awake. Had any man been bold enough in the early days of this Congress to predict that such a thing would come to pass before the Summer Soltice in 1910, he would have been in imminent danger of being clapped into a straight jacket and a padded cell.

"The regular Republicans gave in their adhesion because they knew full well that if they did not do so, we would force it through without their help and in spite of their opposition.

"Most assuredly that was a pitiful conclusion for that vast array of Republican pie-hunters which, drunk with victory and power, paraded the streets of Washington March 4th, 1909, with flags flying, drums beating and bugles blowing. Their arrogance then, as their sorried ranks swept by and their utter demoralization and humility now recall the opening stanzas of Byron's splendid poem, 'The Destruction of Sennocherib.'

"I submit to a candid world that the Democrats of the House of Representatives have set a fine example to Democrats everywhere and deserve well of the country. Our unity of purpose and unity of action should become contagious to the end that we may sweep the land from sea to sea and hurl from power those who have abused the sacred trust which the people committed to their hands.

"But we must fight if we would win. The Republicans are so split up that some folks seem to think that all we have to do is to stand still and see the salvation of the Lord. Such overconfidence may cost us dear. The sure way to win is to fight today, tomorrow, and every day till the polls close on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

"Special privilege which Jefferson fought in his day, and over which Andrew Jackson, of blessed and heroic memory, triumphed in his day, is firmly intrenched in power now through years and years of Republican maladministration and cannot be rooted out without a terrific struggle. The beneficiaries thereof will pour a stream of gold like unto the river Pactolus into the Republican boodle fund with which to debauch the voters of the land and then recoup themselves by more of special privilege granted by the men for whom they buy the offices. For years that endless chain has been in operation and it will continue purged of every variety and every vestige of special privilege.

"The tariff graft—one species of special privilege—became so offensive that five or six years ago even certain Republicans became dissatis-

HIGHEST TRIBUNAL SMITTEN BY DEATH

Chief Justice Fuller Died Suddenly at Sorrento, Maine, Yesterday.

HEART FAILURE THE CAUSE

His Oft-Expressed Wish Was Fulfilled—Leader of American Judiciary—Was Well Sunday—Had Notable Career.

Sorrento, Me., July 4.—In fulfillment of an oft-expressed wish that he might end his long life in the very room where his wife breathed her last, six years ago, the venerable Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, Melville W. Fuller, died suddenly of heart failure early today. Not only did the leader of the American Judiciary round out his days in the same room where his wife had passed away, but it was in the State of his nativity, the State he loved so well, that his long life ended. Chief Justice Fuller was 77 years old.

With the Justice when he died were his daughter, Mrs. Nathaniel Francis, of Washington; his grand-daughter, Miss Aubrey Francis, and Rev. James E. Freeman, of Minneapolis, a neighbor and friend of the family. Justice Fuller had not shown any symptoms of illness. Yesterday he attended the Church of the Redeemer (Episcopal), where Rev. Mr. Freeman conducted the services. He retired last evening about the usual time, and, to all appearances, in his customary health.

His daughter, Mrs. Francis, heard a call from her father's room early this morning and upon answering it saw at once that her father was seriously ill. Summoning Rev. Mr. Freeman, Mrs. Francis sent him for a physician, but when the physician arrived the Justice was beyond assistance.

Chief Justice Fuller had been a Summer resident of Sorrento for 17 years. He came here from Chicago on July 25th, last, and since that time has been staying at the "Mainstay", as his Summer home was called.

The funeral services will be held at the Church of the Redeemer, next Wednesday afternoon. Interment will be at Chicago, probably on Friday.

SUNDAY CLOSING LAW.

Spring Hope Declares Not to Sell—Licenses for "Near Beer."

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Spring Hope, N. C., July 4.—Yesterday was the first day that the Sunday closing law, recently enacted, went into effect. The drug stores were closed the greater part of the day, and cigars and cold drinks were not sold at all. The people have accepted the law in good faith, and the druggists seem to feel good, since they and their clerks are given an opportunity to rest on the Sabbath day. Until this law went into effect cold drinks, cigars, and other lines carried by the druggists could be purchased, and good church folks were always among the purchasers. All are content now to do without the cold drink and the cigars, unless purchased on Saturday night. The ice dealers can still sell ice, and a few folks are manufacturing cold drinks at home.

Recently the town commissioners passed an ordinance fixing the license fee for sale of near-beer at $750 per year. The commissioners were not altogether in favor of the sale of the stuff, but fearful lest a dealer will open up shop just outside the corporate limits fixed the fee at $750 per annum. Two dealers, W. T. Toney, a negro, and the firm of Stallings, Vester & Jackson, have paid the license money and are now dealing out the "near" article. These two dealers do business on the same street and are just opposite each other, and if there is any disposition on their part (and there is no suggestion that there is) to evade the law and sell the genuine article, it will be an easy matter for Chief of Police Stallings to detect the evasion of law and bring the guilty party into Mayor Bergerson's court. The Spring Hope folks are not all prohibitionists by a whole lot, but they do believe in law enforcement, and blind tigers will not get much comfort. Negroes have been the worst offenders that Chief Stallings has hauled into court, and he has done faithful service along this line.

FOURTH OF JULY FIRE.

Firecracked Lodged in Barn Destroyed Half of the Town.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 4.—Fire at Benton, Columbia county, tonight caused by a firecracked lodging in a barn, destroyed half the town. The Benton Argus plant, a hotel, bank and principal stores, and 25 dwelling are in ashes.

The fire did damage amounting to approximately $300,000, destroyed 60 buildings, made 30 families homeless and wiped out the business and residential section of the town. An exploding fire cracker, thrown among the straw in the barn of George Crossley, was the cause. The fire broke out about 3 o'clock this afternoon and it was not until late tonight that after aid had been sent from this place that the flames were under control. Fanned by a high wind the flames swept through a residential street and soon reached the business section of the town, laying waste everything in their path.

fore he reached the hospital to which he was hurried.

Trouble in Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., July 4.—Seventy negroes, half the number women, were arrested tonight in the "black belt" of this city for disorderly celebration of Johnson's victory. One negro was badly cut by another and two other negroes were assaulted and severely injured by whites in arguments over the big fight.

In Arkansas.

Little Rock, Ark., July 4.—Two negroes are reported killed by white men, one by a Rock Island conductor coming into this city tonight, and the other by a white man at second and Scott streets.

White Man Fatally Hurt.

Roanoke, Va., July 4.—Six negroes with broken heads, six white men locked up and one white man, Joe Chockley, with a bullet through his skull and probably fatally wounded is the net result of clashes here tonight following the announcement that Jack Johnson had defeated Jim Jeffries. The trouble started when a negro, who had just heard the news from Reno said: "Now I guess the white folks will let the negroes alone." A white man replied: "No," and the two clashed. Police had difficulty landing the negro in jail, being compelled to draw their revolvers. Later a negro shot Chockley and escaped. The chief of police had the saloons closed at 9:30, a half hour ahead of the regular closing hour. City physician Armstead said Chockley may die tonight.

Black and Tan Belt.

New York, July 4.—A gang of white men in the "black and tan belt" set fire late tonight to a negro tenement on the middle West Side. The police and fire department were ordered out on the jump.

Early Norfolk Report.

Norfolk, Va., July 4.—Race riots broke out all over Norfolk tonight and many negroes were injured. The trouble was caused mostly by enlisted men from the various battleships now here, who attacked negroes wherever they met them. A detachment of marines from the Navy Yard are aiding the police to quell the riot.

Three Negroes Killed.

Augusta, Ga., July 4.—A race riot is in progress at Uvaldia on the Georgia and Florida Railroad. At least three are negroes killed.

To Shoot Up Town.

Mounds, Ill., July 4.—One dead and one mortally wounded is the result of an attempt by four negroes to shoot up the town in honor of Jack Johnson's victory at Reno tonight. A negro constable was killed when he attempted to arrest them.

New Orleans, La., July 4.—Two negroes were shot here late tonight. It is not thought that the negroes are mortally wounded.

Kansas City, July 4.—Negroes boasting of fight result, are being pulled from street cars and riots are threatened in the downtown streets at midnight. Extra police are on duty to prevent mobbing.

At Keystone, W. Va.

Bluefields, W. Va., July 4.—Negroes are boisterous at Keystone, W. Va., tonight and are said to be in possession of the town, the police being powerless. No violence has been reported so far. At that town earlier in the night a negro man was stabbed to death by a negro woman. Telegraph and telephone offices at Keystone are closed for the night.

In Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, July 4.—There were clashes between whites and blacks in several sections of the city tonight following the announcement of Johnson's victory over Jeffries.

In St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., July 4.—Rioting in a negro quarter of St. Louis at Market street and Jefferson Avenue, followed the announcement that Jack Johnson was the victor in the Reno prize fight. The police finally clubbed the negroes who were blocking traffic and making threats.

In Negro's Paradise.

Washington, July 4.—Several small race riots broke out at various points on Pennsylvania Avenue tonight following announcement of the result of the Jeffries-Johnson fight. There were a number of arrests. No one was seriously hurt.

THE OFFICIAL TIME.

How the Stop Watch Stood on Big Fight at Reno.

Reno, Nev., July 4.—By George Harting, the official time-keeper: "Time was called at 2:45. Johnson entered the ring at 2:28 and Jeffries entered four minutes later. The fight lasted 15 rounds. The time for the last round was 2:27. The fight was stopped at 3:41. In the 15th round there were three knockdown. The first two of these were each of nine second's duration. The last one was eight seconds. Then Jeffries' seconds rushed in, and the referee gave the decision to Johnson. There is no doubt that independent of this action Jeffries would have been counted out."

PENROSE NOT DROWNED.

With Party of Friends Arrives on Board Yacht Betty.

Atlantic City, July 3.—Excitement was caused about noon today, when a rumor was put in circulation here to the effect that United States Senator Penrose had been drowned off this city while on a fishing trip with a party of friends. The excitement was intensified later, when it was heard that the Senator had not been in his rooms at his hotel since Friday morning.

State Senator James P. McNichol, of Philadelphia, one of the Senator's closest friends, lessened the suspense of the anxious inquirers when he gave out the information that Senator Penrose had informed him before leaving here that his yacht would probably touch at the Delaware breakwater, several miles down the coast, today.

In reply to a telegram to the breakwater it was learned that Senator Penrose and his friends had arrived in that harbor about 10:30 this morning, and that the yacht Betty was at that hour lying at anchor at the breakwater.

The fact that Senator Penrose had been seen alive and well several hours after the wild rumor of his sudden death had been put in circulation set at rest the anxiety which had stirred the thousands of visitors to this resort.

Bristol, Tenn., June 2.—After hiding $1,000 in $20 gold pieces for fifty years at different spots on his premises, John Hopper, of Washington county, Virginia, two weeks ago secreted the yellow coin under the kitchen of his home. When he went to get the money yesterday to look at and count it, it was missing. There is no clue to the thief.

THE RURAL LETTER CARRIERS

Addresses Yesterday at Association Convention in Raleigh—Independent Candidate for Senate. Naval Militia Practice.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., July 4.—Fourth Assistant Postmaster General DeGraw was the principal speaker for the first day's session of the North Carolina Association of Rural Free Delivery Mail Carriers in seventh annual session here today. Mr. DeGraw's address was devoted to a comprehensive presentation of the scope and details of the free delivery service and an explanation of the headquarters of the department at Washington and an appeal for the heartiest co-operation in extending and improving the service.

The convention was opened this morning by Chas. V. Nowell, of Peachland, as president, the address of welcome being by Mayor Wynne and the response by H. P. Coppedge. Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, State geologist, and Secretary of the North Carolina Good Roads Association, delivered an address on Good Roads and Rural Free Delivery, appealing for the help of the carriers in spreading "the gospel of good roads" in whatever territory they penetrate.

This afternoon there was a memorial service in honor of the members of the Association who died during the year. Tonight there was a reception and banquet for the visiting carriers at which Postmaster Willis G. Briggs delivered the principal address. In this he treated the whole scope of the rural free delivery service and the relation of the carriers to the central postoffices from which they operate.

The latest political development in Wake county is a report pretty generally circulated to the effect that W. A. Simpkins is to run independent for the State Senate against Dr. E. W. Sikes, who was nominated in the sensational Democratic primary in which the "insurgent" faction of the party defeated the regulars. Mr. Simpkins has not confirmed the report. He is a Primitive Baptist minister and extensive farmer, who has amassed quite a fortune the past few years through the sale of a special cotton seed of his own propagation that has special boll weevil resistance and is especially prolific. He has been an independent Democratic voter for a number of years and did not go into the recent primaries. There has been talk that the Republicans would induce E. C. Duncan, National committeeman, to stand for the Senate, but he says that he cannot consider such a thing. Since his retirement from the Seaboard Air Line receivership he had been devoting his attention to quite a successful banking business here. It is probable that if Simpkins makes the race independently he will receive the Republican as well as the "estranged" Democratic vote.

The division practice cruises for the North Carolina Naval Reserves are in progress from July 1 to August 15, each of the divisions to have a ten days' cruise on the gunboat Elfrida, with auxiliary training on the Dupont, both of which are in commission for the use of the North Carolina Naval Reserves. Lieut. Col. Shaw, of the United States Navy, has arrived and will give special instruction and inspect the divisions. He conferred with the adjutant general here Saturday and then went on to Newbern to take up his work.

The final hearing in the contest between the railroad companies running into Raleigh and petitioning citizens, before the Corporation Commission as to whether there shall be enlargement and improvement of the union station here in addition to the $15,000 improvements now under way, is set for Friday of this week. The railroads have just filed their final answer insisting that the present plans for enlargement, now in progress, are ample and will give waiting room facilities greater than any other station in this State has and that other accommodations will be ample for many years.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.

Rites of Catholic Order Prove Feature of Day in Charleston.

Charleston, July 3.—The Southern and Atlantic Coast Line brought the banner crowds of the season to Charleston on account of the holiday following Sunday giving the excursionists in most cases the opportunity to spend two days here. The crowd was a large but orderly contingent from Columbia, Augusta, Savannah and many other points. Aside from the special programme at the Isle of Palms for the two days with music, balloon ascensions and parachute jumps, there was the exemplification of the three degrees of the Knights of Columbus under the auspices of the P. N. Lynch council.

The knights attended religious services and then proceeded with the work of the order. P. J. Drew of Columbia council, grand knight, put on the first degree. Territorial Deputy Jospeh R. Allen, also of Columbia, put on the third, and Pat Rice of Augusta the second degree. Columbia, Augusta, Wilmington and other neighboring cities supplemented the list of candidates.

A large contingent, which came over from Savannah by steamer, was delayed in arrival, the steamer going aground in Wadmalaw river.

S. S. S. CURES SKIN DISEASES

Lying just beneath the outer covering or tissue-skin, is a sensitive membranous flesh in which are imbedded thousands of small blood vessels. It is through these tiny veins and arteries that nutriment is supplied from the blood to the different pores, glands and lymphatics. Thus the skin is kept healthy, and free from all eruption or disease, by pure blood. But when impurities and humors infect the circulation its nourishing properties are diminished and instead of supplying the skin with healthful properties it constantly irritates and diseases the delicate fibres, pores and glands with sharp uratic matter. Then the skin tissues inflame, swell and ulcerate and some form of skin disease appears on the surface. Applying soothing lotions, salves, etc., to the outer eruptions does not purify the blood and therefore the skin trouble can not be cured in this manner. S. S. S. cures all skin diseases by neutralizing the acids and removing the humors from the blood. It cools the acid-heated circulation, builds it up to its normal strength and thickness, multiplies its rich, nutritious corpuscles, and adds to its purity in every way. Then the skin, instead of being irritated and inflamed by sour impurities is nourished, soothed and softened by this cooling, healthy stream of blood. S. S. S. Cures Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Poison Oak, boils, pimples, rashes, etc. Book on Skin Diseases free to all who write.

Tuesday, July 5th, 1910.

That smile of Senator LaFollette was a little misleading, but it proved to be entirely without significance. It isn't at all safe to draw conclusions about how Roosevelt stands toward Taft just because he can put an insurgent in a good humor.

The Star congratulates Kinston and Lumberton upon the fact that they are soon to have the best in the way of long distance and local telephone service. These growing cities are entitled to the best, and it is a sign of their progress that they are getting what is coming to them.

That meeting at Nahant indicated that there was nothing the least strained about the personal relations between Roosevelt and Taft, in spite of the fly-blows on "My Policies." It may be possible now for Senator Tillman to secure a conference and eat out of the Rough Rider's hand.

That was a laughfest between Roosevelt and Taft at Beverly on Thursday. When the Colonel was visited at Oyster Bay by Senator LaFollette, the insurgent came out smiling, and even so it was that Ballinger's "snakes" were tickled over their visit to him. Maybe everybody "laughs with Taft" at Roosevelt.

A girl at Walla Walla, Wash., has been awarded $5,000 because a rich man kissed her without her consent. This is where wealth makes it dangerous to be predatory. A North Carolinian who is not a malefactor of great wealth can steal a kiss worth $50,000, and the only punishment he may run the risk of is a little pouting.

A writer on housekeeping says: "Another nice new salad is composed of prunes, pecan nuts, lettuce and lemon juice." We don't know, but it strikes us if a man were to become addicted to that kind of dish he could commit any kind of rash deed and be entitled to justification and immunity at the hands of the jury.

In New York recently a woman reporter interviewed Col. Henry Watterson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, and it is said he "came out strong" in favor of "a man's telling his wife the truth about his little diversions." It may be a little proper to entertain her with a few delectable bagatelles, but Col. Watterson should know that sooner or later it will only lead up to a demand upon her husband to pander to her curiosity on a more extensive scale.

In order to get recruits for the Navy Uncle Sam is telling young men that while millionaires are building palatial yachts to take world tours, while others with pockets full of money are taking passage on the liners or still others are joining tourist parties on chartered ships, able-bodied young men can join the crews of splendid warships and get a salary for seeing the world. Uncle Sam surely is hard up when he has to pretend like he is going to pay young fellows so they can see the sights.

As a friend of international peace, the Star not only deprecated further naval armament on the part of the nations but suggested that, if the powers would not curtail their sea forces, they could agree not to use air ships in war. They have paid no attention to our pacific admonition, and Germany especially has treated the court with contempt. She boasts that she will have indestructible aerial warships. Cyanogen gas bombs fired from mortars and exploded high in the air will asphyxiate the aviators and dump the whole outfit. We don't know where the gas is to come from but that is none of our business.

REGULATING RAILROADS.

It becomes plainer every day that one of the most important functions of this government devolves upon the Interstate Commerce Commission and the new Commerce Court, which is to pass judicially upon traffic, transportation and corporation cases. Heretofore, the Interstate Commerce Commission practically was prosecutor, jury and judge, but under the new Taft "Railroad Bill" there is to be a new order of things.

To judge from recent occurrences, the Interstate Commerce Commission hereafter is to be the court of examination and preparation of cases, the "lower court" as it were, while the Commerce Court, or the upper court, will judicially determine the questions at issue. Necessarily, therefore, when we see a ruling by the Interstate Commerce Commission it does not mean a final decision, for the case can go on up to the Commerce Court for a final hearing, if not up to the United States Supreme Court itself. We do not suppose that it will be seriously contended that there can be no appeal from the Commerce Court, although it has been mooted that the Commerce Court is the court of last resort in the relation of cases coming before it.

The fact is, the manner of handling the interstate railroads and corporations of the country is a matter that evidently will require some adjustment. These matters require high judicial examination on one hand, and that will come from the Commerce Court. On the other hand what do the gentlemen of the highest legal learning and judicial calibre know of the technical features of the railroad business? They may know the law and equity in the case but they do not know the railroad business.

We presume that the Interstate Commerce Commission hereafter will largely determine the technical questions, and it would seem that experts familiar with the railroad business and general economic questions would be selected for positions on the Interstate Commerce Commission rather than all jurists. At any rate the Commission and the Commerce Court have become too vital in their importance to be made berths for fossilized politicians.

The recent opinion of the Interstate Commerce Commission in the case of the Commercial Club Traffic Bureau, of Salt Lake City, vs. the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway Company, presents complicated questions of law, rate making, and railroad operations calling for technical experts as well as jurists. The Commission, in its opinion, has undertaken to pass upon the question, "What determines rates?" and it is announced that the Commission makes it plain that it will not determine rates as reasonable when a strong line can carry freights cheaper than a weaker line, but that the weaker line will be protected against the stronger line in order that competition may not be crushed out by the stronger line. In other words, the Commission may order a rate increased in order to protect a weak line. The Commission also decides that it will not permit notoriously overcapitalized roads to charge excessive freight rates in order to earn dividends on watered stocks. At the same time the Commission has no intention of so fixing rates as to make the better managed and better conditioned roads the only ones able to carry on business at a profit. In determining the reasonableness of rates the Commission takes into consideration the cost of operations and takes into account the actual cost of handling freights, so that there may not be an overcharge in order to raise revenues to take care of high financing schemes.

The opinion of the Commission, as a whole, raises some complicated questions, and there will be plenty for the Commerce Court to do if it has jurisdiction in the case, as it was begun before the Commerce Court was established.

Col. Roosevelt complains that he is put to his stumps receiving letters and callers. If anybody enjoys his troubles in that particular it surely is the "delighted" Colonel.

Early in life we hope to be happy but later in life we are to be satisfied with contentment. The expectation and not the realization is all that most people get from either one or the other.

A Peking cablegram says the demand of the Chinese for a parliament has been refused by the Government. It may be just as well for the Chinks, for malefactors of great wealth might buy up the seats and try to ape America's insolent rich.

That meeting of President Taft, Ex-President Roosevelt and Senator Lodge was something like a lovefeast when they had a "conference" concerning the G. O. P. Here's hoping that it will finally resolve itself into a coroner's inquest.

If all men were as virtuous as their indignation over the political and personal shortcomings of their fellow men they could afford to cast the first stone. Verily, verily men condemn in others what they condone in themselves. Know thyself, O, ye Carolinians.

FRIENDLY FIGHTS.

A successful Democratic candidate in Guilford county, in a mollifying and mellifluent speech after the primaries, pours oil on the troubled waters and consoles the defeated candidates by reminding them that, after all, these primaries are nothing more nor less than "simply a contest between friends."

This gives us the opportunity fo say that the defeated candidate who can have a spasm of enthusiasm instead of displaying a languid loyalty to the friend who has wiped up the earth with him during one of these strenuous primaries, is hot stuff and true grit. If there is anything that a Democrat has, it is fortitude and the man who can grin and endure the worst that a friend can do to him has a stoic philosopher skinned to death.

We Democrats have heroically helped to bear National defeats for a quarter of a century but every time a campaign opens up we are confident that we are going to administer a crushing and humiliating defeat to the opposition. However, when the votes are counted and manipulated and we find that we've got it in the neck once more, we attribute the whole thing to befuddled and misguided voters in the doubtful States where the compaign fund was used to anchor the floating vote. Our faith in the ultimate triumph of Democratic principles is never shaken but we cling to that faith from one election to another, confident that the American voters will get their eyes open and refuse to be fooled at the next election.

This shows that Democrats have courage, and it is these courageous and heroic specimens of American manhood who have their "friendly contests" for office.

The fact is, a true Democrat can bite the dust and then rise above the whole thing and spit out the dirt with contempt. Let the defeated candidates reflect that they belong to the Spartan band that has a contempt for defeat—Nationally and, especially, individually. These primaries are merely benevolent contentions and amiable strife. What is a mierable and sordid office among friends who believe more in the principles of their party than they believe in the men who make fools of themselves over some office that they are not qualified to fill so well as a highly competent "out."

It is the "ins" who are entitled to the sympathy and the pity, for they are only laying up trouble for themselves and accumulating woe for another 'friendly contest" two years from now.

MUCKRAKING THE MUCKRAKERS.

Some of the recent attacks on alleged muckrakers must not be taken seriously. The right of the hit dog to howl must be conceded, but we must discriminate between the whining of the sly dogs and the vigorous anamadversions of the more or less sincere persons who class righteous exposures as muckraking. "The guilty ne'er felt the halter draw with good opinion of the law."

We have already classed some attacks on muckrakers as mere protests against exposures, or a plea for mercy. We are perfectly willing for the galled jades to wince and put up their paws, but we simply can't stand for the insolent guilty to make a noise like that of injured innocence. Yea, verily, do not let the elect be deceived. Some of the assaults on alleged muckrakers are the tactics of the cuttlefish which muddies the waters that it may escape.

We are no friend to the literary ghouls who delve into mud and slime, but we discriminate when we observe the Sons of Belial attempting to crush truth to earth under ill-disguised condemnation of muckraking.

A New York woman who claims that she is in copartnership with her husband, is suing him for her part of the income, which she alleges is $20,000 a year. Business men will now consider what kind of people they take in as partners.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The Democratic party would do well to decide whether it shall have the "all primary" system, or no primaries at all.—Asheville Citizen.

It seems at present that with 79 counties heard from, ten withholding instructions and 19 to hear from, the Allen-Manning contest stands: Allen, 402.26; Manning, 358.26. If the convention has to decide the contest, which is not at all improbable in view of this situation, all fear of a dull time will vanish.—Charlotte Observer.

The statement of the Charlotte banks published today show them to be in a most prosperous condition and that their growth is keeping pace with the constantly increasing demands of our city. The capital, surplus and undivided profits shown by their statements indicate that Charlotte has a banking capital exceeding $2,800,000 and leads any city in the State in this particular.—Charlotte News.

The Southern now has 95 miles of double-tracking in North Carolina. The completion this week of the line between Charlotte and Concord gives the road a stretch extending from two miles beyond Greensboro to this city. Untold advantages will follow the completion of the entire project of double tracking from Washington to Atlanta. Large sums have been put into this work, and North Carolina comes first as beneficiary of the work.—Charlotte News.

The Citizen believes that the majority of Ashevillians, regardless of political belief, will congratulate the Hon. Thos. Settle on his appointment as assistant attorney general for the government in the great custom house fraud cases. We take it that the appointment comes not in the shape of political reward, but as recognition of Mr. Settle's marked ability. It is an honor of which any lawyer in the country might well be proud, and none deserve it more than our distinguished fellow townsman. That Mr. Settle can fill the position with credit to himself and his State no one will doubt.—Asheville Citizen. (Dem.)

Wrightsville Beach has entertained many gatherings this Summer, but its most exciting day will be July 21, when the Sixth District Congressional convention is called to order. The latest news from the front indicates that Representative H. L. Godwin, of Harnett will go into the first ballot six or seven votes short of enough to re-nominate him. From the activity of the friends of the other candidates, to obtain these will be no easy matter for him. Messrs. Herbert McClammy, of New Hanover, and H. L. Cook, of Cumberland, have the solid support of their respective counties, and the lightning is likely to strike almost anywhere.—Charlotte Observer.

By the death of Maj. James W. Wilson the State has lost one who rendered it great and lasting service. Born of an ancestry which might well inspire any man with emulation, he had given unto him ten talents and he used them faithfully. During the long and active period of life which followed his graduation from the University of North Carolina in 1852 he grew more useful continually. The gallant soldier of the 'sixties became the builder and industrial pioneer of the 'senventies and 'eighties. He built the Western North Carolina Railroad out of almost incredibly slight financial means; he made it—made it for the State. Its many miles of length and its wonderful climbing plunge through the Blue Ridge were his work. At one time he was president, superintendent and engineer, that expenses might be saved. Often he went without pay, that the men who were constructing and operating the road under his direction might receive theirs. They were all devoted to him, and with cause enough. Later he became a member of the Legislature to obtain needed support for the road; later still he served on the Corporation Commission. In al the relations of life—as a husband and father even more than as a public servant—James W. Wilson was without reproach. Love and service were the guiding principles of one who was so pre-eminently a Christian and a gentleman that he never valued money for its own sake. He will lie buried at Morganton, the home of his happiest and busiest days, beside the great construction work which will be his monument as long as it lasts.—Charlotte Observer, July 4.

The Raleigh Caucasian has put on a new dress, new type and a better grade of paper, with a view to making as good appearance as possible before the State convention. Mr. Butler always puts on a new dress—before the convention. Upon the occasion of the late State convention Butler's best friends took the unanimous view that it would be inexpedient for him to make his appearance upon the convention floor, and most of them said so, but it is apparent that the one-time Populist Senator, working through John Motley Morehead, expects to take charge of the situation on August 10. The Caucasian's new dress indicates as much, apart from the things it is saying with its new type. But while the Caucasian has affected a new dress, its methods have undergone no change. Its ways are what Mr. Butler would call foxy, with a feling of self-congratulation, but what most people would regard as dishonest. For example, in the current number of his paper Mr. Butler attributes words to the Charlotte Observer editorially, which it never said. The words attributed to the Observer are these: "The next Republican State convention will be worth while. Democrats and organization Republicans are for Duncan this year, but there is an angry howl in the woods." This angry howl was not heard in the woods, but emanated from the recesses of the Morehead automobile, as it sped along Pennsylvania avenue, and these murmurings of discontent were transmitted to the Charlotte Observer in a Washington dispatch by its correspondent, who seemed to have charge of the Morehead gubernatorial boom, and who later joined Butler in the effort to make Morehead chairman of the Republican State executive committee. Another favorite device of Mr. Butler, equally dishonest, is the practice of attributing to Mr. Duncan and others sentiments which this paper may express with respect to Republican affairs. But, then, if Mr. Butler should affect a degree of honesty in politics, it would not be Mr. Butler. —Asheville Gazette-News (Rep).

AVIATOR A VICTIM.

Wachter Killed While Practicing for Bethany Aerial Meet.

Bethany Plains, Rheims, France, July 3.—The opening of the second aviation meeting today on the historic field of Bethany was marked by a fatal accident. Aviator Wachter being killed. Wachter was the first of the contestants to appear for practice this morning. In his Antoinette monoplane he battled along with the gale amid the enthusiasm of the spectators until the rain compelled him to make a descent. He resumed his flights in the afternoon and was flying magnificently when suddenly an explosion was heard. The wings of the machine doubled up and the monoplane dropped to the earth with lightning speed. The aviator was killed instantly in full view of the spectators, among whom were his wife and little daughter.

The accident is attributed to the breaking of the wire stays.

COMMENDS COMMISSION PLAN.

Rev. Howard L. Jones, of Charleston, Urges It for That City.

Charleston, July 3.—At the Citadel Square Baptist church tonight Rev. Dr. Howard L. Jones preached a sermon on the subject, "An Ignored Issue of the August Election or a Call for the Previous Question," in which he extolled the commission form of municipal government and urged that the community take steps to secure a delegation in the Legislature which may be depended upon to do the will of the people, rather than give ear alone to the politicians. He said that last February, when the bill was passed by the Legislature, providing for a commission form of municipal government for all cities over 20,000 people, Charleston was exempted. After asking the question of who had spoken for the people of Charleston, he answered by saying that Charleston was exempted because of the pressure of the interests of the politicians who threatened defeat of the much desired legislation for the city of Columbia if Charleston was not exempted. Dr. Jones made it clear that he was not speaking in the interest of any particular mayoralty candidate for none has as yet declared himself on the question.

If Charleston is to take this step forward, he said, it is time that the city should look to the character of this issue, involved in the approaching Democratic primary, should not be ignored.

THE FIGHT RETURNS RECEIVED

Much Interest Locally and Bulletins Scanned With Much Interest—Associated Press First With the News.

Wilmington, in common with the rest of the country, manifested the keenest interest yesterday in the result of the pugilistic contest at Reno, Nevada, and the bulletins from the prize ring were scanned eagerly. Not only was the interest keen in Wilmington, but in all this section of the State everybody apparently wanted to "know about the fight" and The Star office during the afternoon and early evening answered as many as a dozen long distance telephone calls for the news from the big mill.

Of course Jeffries was the great favorite both in the betting and upon general principles and naturally there was much disappointment at the result. Notwithstanding the fact that a large majority of the local population was at the beach, a very large crowd gathered at every place in the city where the returns from the fight were received. The Star by its leased wire posted the bulletins as fast as they arrived and megaphoned the general result to a great crowd of people who gathered in front of the building to hear the latest. In addition, a limited number of extras were issued during the afternoon as fast as the rounds came in and were distributed so as to prevent the crush at the bulletin board and these were read eagerly until the flash came over the wire that the black man had knocked out Jeff in the 15th. These bulletins were the first to reach the city and the Associated Press scored a great beat in the way it handled the story to the newspapers subscribing to that service. Mr. Theodore Kingsbury, Jr., the Associated Operator in the Star building, took the bulletins as fast as they could be flashed over the wire from Reno and Mr. A. J. Mitchell, editor of the Star's "brickbat and bouquet" baseball column, kindly did the megaphone stunt to the crowds below. Mr. Geo. E. Megow, one of the Star's expert linotypists, put the bulletins into type as fast as they were received and until the "finish" was announced, these bulletins were printed by rounds and in the street almost before another round was off the wires.

With the colored population, of course, Johnson was the hero and there was much jollification at the result, but as a rule the colored people in Wilmington were not outwardly over-exultant over the result and bore themselves with becoming demeanor towards the whites, in striking contrast to their brethren of some of the more northern States where race prejudice was allowed to run rampant much to the regret of the better class of both elements of population.

The fight is carried in detail in the telegraphic columns of the Star this morning and it will be re-read with much avidity by the pug followers.

MRS. LAURA A. YOPP DEAD.

Passed Away Suddenly Yesterday Afternoon of Apoplexy.

Many relatives and friends in this city and elsewhere will learn with profound regret of the death of Mrs. Laura A. Yopp, the beloved wife of Mr. A. P. Yopp, which occurred rather suddenly at her home, No. 415 Grace street, at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon of apoplexy. Mrs. Yopp was apparently in her usual good health yesterday morning and was arranging to go to Wrightsville Beach with Mr. Yopp to spend the day, when at 11 o'clock she was stricken with apoplexy. Loved ones realized that her condition was serious and little hope was held out by the attending physician. She sank gradually until the end at the hour mentioned. Mrs. Yopp was a most estimable woman, a consistent member of the First Baptist church and held in the highest esteem by all with whom she came in contact. She was 57 years and 12 days old and is survived by her husband, two children, Mr. Alfred H. Yopp, of Wilmington, and Mrs. J. A. Best, of Augusta, Ga.; two sisters, Mrs. John A. White, of Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs. C. M. Woodcock, of this city; and one brother, Mr. John W. Brown, of Augusta, Ga. Mrs. Best was expected to arrive on the late train last night from Augusta. The sympathy of a great many friends is extended to the bereaved.

The funeral will be held from the late residence at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, conducted by Rev. Dr. J. H. Foster, pastor of the First Baptist church, and the interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

POSTAL MESSENGERS.

Telegraph and Telephone Age Has Complimentary Reference.

The Telegraph and Telephone Age published in New York, has the following well deserved compliment:

"Postal messengers are given a bonus for all 'rush' messages delivered inside of five minutes. One afternoon recently it happened that one of the messengers of Wilmington, N. C., had a 'rush' message for a customer who was located on the wharf on the bank of the Cape Fear river. The boy, seeing that his time was about up, rode on his bicycle at a rapid rate to deliver the message on time. As he reached the addressee's place of business he noticed that his brake would not work and before he had time to stop himself he dashed into the water, where it was 20 feet deep. His whole mind was apparently centered on delivering his telegram on time, however, as he swam rapidly to the bank, dashed up to the addressee with the message and delivered it right on the minute."

Death of Infant Daughter.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Yopp tenderly sympathize with them in the death of their nine-months-old daughter, Daisy I. Yopp, which occurred at the family residence, No. 607 South Fifth street, at 11 o'clock Sunday morning after a short illness. The funeral will be held from the residence at 10 o'clock this morning and the interment will be in Bellevue cemetery.

COTTON SEED CRUSHERS

Annual Meeting of South Carolina Association at Wrightsville Beach Tomorrow and Thursday—Many Visitors.

Prominent cotton seed oil mill men are arriving at the Seashore Hotel, Wrightsville Beach, for the annual meeting of the South Carolina Cotton Seed Crushers' Association, which will be held at the popular hostelry Wednesday and Thursday of this week. There will be more than 100 cotton seed crushers in attendance from the Palmetto State and it is expected that nearly all the mills in North Carolina will be represented. Owing to the fact that there are so many regular guests at the Seashore it is hardly probable that all the visitors can be accommodated there, but they will be comfortably quartered at the Tarrymoore.

The arrangements for the meeting have been made by Mr. B. F. Taylor, of Columbia, S. C., secretary of the association; Mr. T. C. White, general passenger agent of the Atlantic Coast Line, and Mr. Henry Bowden, of this city, manager of the North Carolina Cotton Oil Company. The officers of the association are: President, H. L. Todd, Clinton, S. C.; vice president, F. S. Evans, Greenwood, S. C.; secretary and treasurer, B. F. Taylor, Columbia, S. C.

No regular programme has been arranged, but in addition to addresses by officers of the association the following have been invited and accepted invitations to address the cotton seed crushers: Dr. B. W. Kilgore, of Raleigh, State Chemist for North Carolina; Mr. W. A. Reynolds, of Charlotte, who arrived yesterday; Hon. E. J. Watson, of Columbia, Commissioner of Agriculture for South Carolina; Judge Henry C. Hammond, of Augusta, Ga.

It is probable that several social affairs will be arranged in honor of the visitors. Mr. Chas. N. Evans, president of the Southern National Bank, has, as president of the Commercial Club, invited the visitors to take a trip down the Cape Fear river on the steamer Wilmington, as no visit to this section is complete without a trip on the steamer Wilmington, but as yet final arrangements for the outing have not been made. The association will probably have a banquet, but this has not been definitely decided. The sessions will be held in the assembly hall of the Seashore Hotel.

While some of the visitors have already arrived and others will come in on the regular trains today, the majority will arrive about 9 o'clock this evening over the Coast Line on a special train which leaves Columbia, S. C., at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Among those who will attend the convention are:

CELEBRATION OF FOURTH

Nation's Natal Day Generally Observed in This City and Section. Thousands Flock to the Beaches.

Yesterday, the anniversary of the birth of the Nation, was observed throughout the country. While the observance was general the form of celebration varied from one extreme to the other. As in former years the celebration in this section was of the "safe and sane" kind striking the happy medium, if you please, between the two extremes.

Business was practically at a standstill and all joined in the spirit of the day. In the city one was reminded of Sunday, the crowds, as usual, flocking to the beaches. The public offices and banks were closed; the postoffice observed holiday hours and many of the mercantile and other business houses were closed for at least a portion of the day, while the employes of the general offices of the Atlantic Coast Line were "off" the entire day.

The Tidewater Power Company carried more than 5,000 people to Wrightsville Beach, breaking all former records on the Fourth of July by at least 500. This in spite of the unfavorable weather conditions in the afternoon. With ideal weather in the afternoon the number probably would have been 1,000 greater. The majority of those who visited the beach went down in the morning, which is rather usual. The rain in the afternoon prevented many from going that would have otherwise been numbered among the merry-makers at Gay Lumina. The service given by the Tidewater Power Company on the suburban line was well nigh perfect and brought forth many complimentary remarks from the patrons. The half hour schedule was maintained to the minute all day long. Not once did the trains run behind the schedule and there was not a single mishap. This is an achievement of which any transportation company anywhere in the country could well be proud. Mr. John Sheehan, the popular superintendent of transportation, was personally in charge of the operation of the trains from early morning until the last car at night. Besides, other officers of the company were personally on the grounds and gave their assistance in dispatching the trains, while the employes of the company to the man gave their best efforts to keep everything running smoothly. Three-car express trains, followed by local cars, were operated the entire day, and the passengers were carried easily without and unnecessary crowding.

The crowds began to flock to Lumina, Wrightsville Beach, early in the morning and by noon it was estimated that there were 3,000 or more people at the pleasure palace. The number of townspeople was considerably augmented by the several hundred beach residents and visitors. The attraction in the morning was the annual athletic events arranged for by the Tidewater Power Company to furnish amusement for the thousands who always go to the resort on the Fourth of July. The contests took place in front of Lumina, beginning at 10:30 A. M. and concluding about 1 o'clock in the afternoon. There were 135 entries for the several contests. The course for the running events was roped off, thus enabling the spectators to witness all the contests without difficulty. The entire list of contests was run off without a hitch. Mr. J. B. Huntington, physicial director of the Y. M. C. A., was in charge of the events as marshal and it was due to his excellent management that the affair was carried out so successfully.

The following were the officials of the events: Referee, Chas. N. Evans; marshal, J. B. Huntington; Judges, Col. John VanB. Metts, B. A. Thees and H. G. Foard; clerk of course, Chas. Dushan; announcer and starter, Wilbur Dosher; scorer, F. G. Duls.

The events, winners and prizes were as follows:

One hundred yard dash (under 16 years)—First prize, silver cup, won by L. Bonne; time 12.5 seconds; second prize, three round trip tickets to beach, won by J. LeMoyne; third, one ticket, J. Farrow.

One hundred yard dash (16 and over)—First prize, silver cup, won by J. V. Grainger, Jr., in second heat, time 11 seconds; second, three tickets, Willie Parsley; third, one ticket, M. Blair.

Potato Race (under 16 years)—First prize, silver cup, O. R. Johnson; second, three tickets, J. LeMoyne; third, one ticket, F. C. Sheppard.

Potato Race (16 and over)—First prize, silver cup, J. V. Grainger, Jr.; second, three tickets, G. Bornemann; third, one ticket, C. Smith.

Flag Race (girls under 10)—First prize, silver cup, Fannie Mason; second, candy Esther Newton; third, candy E. Wilson.

Flag Race (girls 10 and over)—First a silver cup, Miss Vera Furlong, second, candy, Miss Margie Fennell; third, candy, Miss E. Grossman.

Three legged race, 50 yards (under 16 years)—First prize, six tickets, H. McKoy and Tom Strange; second, four tickets, A. Newton and Earl King; third, two tickets, A. Scales and W. Taylor.

Three legged race, 75 yards (16 and over)—First prize, six tickets, W. Parsley and G. Clark; second, four tickets, Clayton Smith and J. V. Grainger, Jr.; third, two tickets, J. H. King and J. W. Hale.

Hurdle Race, 120 yards (16 and over—First prize, five tickets, won by W. Parsley in third heat, time 17.8 seconds; second, three tickets, J. V. Grainger, Jr.; third, one ticket, W. Walker.

Swimming Race, one-half mile (16 and over)—First prize, silver cup, won by Bennett Dunn; second, three tickets, B. D. Applewhite; third, one ticket, K. D. Parsley.

Canoe Race—First prize silver canoe, R. Stevenson and H. Calder; second, three tickets, R. Bridgers and W. Parsley; third, one ticket, B. Bridgers and R. Calder.

When the contests were over the crowd gathered in the handsome pavilion and listened to the excellent music furnished by the Lumina Orchestra, and a large number of the young people took advantage of the opportunity to "trip the light fantastic toe." During the several showers of rain in the afternoon the pavilion was crowded perhaps as it was never crowded before, every available space being utilized by those who did not care for a shower bath.

It was a fine day for bathing in the surf and the crowd out from Lumina probably outnumbered that of any other day in the history of the pleasure resort, between 600 and 800 getting suits from the bath houses during the afternoon. Not a single incident occurred during the afternoon to mar the pleasure of any and despite the lowering clouds and occasional showers all spent an enjoyable day.

At no time during the afternoon and evening was Lumina deserted. When the afternoon crowds began to return to the city the evening crowds began to arrive, every car to the beach late in the afternoon and early evening being well filled. The Tidewater Power Company handled the crowds in a manner that was entirely satisfactory to all the patrons.

Yacht Races in Afternoon.

The annual Fourth of July race of the Carolina Yacht Club took place in the afternoon, being called at 4:30 o'clock, and attracted hundreds of interested spectators, notwithstanding the rain at intervals. So enthusiastic were the spectators, mostly ladies, that they did not even run to shelter when the showers came. The race was open to all members of the club and there were 12 entries. The wind was strong from the southwest and in the opinion of some of the yachtmen the breeze was the best for yacht races in many years. The race was won by Nd. 59, "Don Julian," O. A. Wiggins, captain, in one hour, thirty minutes and 14 seconds. The time of the other boats which continued in the race was as follows:

No. 58, E. A. Metts, captain, 1:35:41; No. 65, Platt W. Davis, captain, 1:42:12; No. 66, R. A. Parsley, captain, 1:45:04; No. 67, B. H. Bridgers, captain, 1:45:04; No. 62, H. J. McMillan, captain, 1:46:02; No. 71, Nelson MacRae, captain, 1:46:30; No. 72, T. E. Brown, captain, 1:46:40; No. 74, Thos. W. Davis, captain, 1:50:08; No. 69, Capt. R. G. Rankin, Jr., captain, 1:50:30.

No. 68, Col. John VanB. Metts, captain, fouled another boat when the race was about half over and was disqualified for further participation. No. 73, J. I. Corbett, captain, sustained a broken rudder and had to quit the race.

The boats started from the pier of the Carolina Yacht Club and the course was down to inlet buoy, thence to Seashore Hotel buoy; thence to inlet buoy, thence to Mott's channel buoy, then down to inlet buoy and thence back to the starting point.

The judges were: Ex-Commodore F. A. Lord, ex-Commodore John K. Williams, and Flag Captain, Clayton Giles, Jr.

There will be another race within a few weeks, announcement of which will be made later.

Last night thousands attended the souvenir dance at Lumina. Fully 600 persons were in the grand march when the souvenirs were given out. The ball room was attractively decorated with flags, about 3,000 being used most effectively. The souvenirs were pretty framed pictures decorated in the National colors. The crowd made merry until a late hour, even the last cars from the beach being well crowded.

At Carolina Beach.

No place in this section was more popular yesterday than Carolina Beach, where hundreds spent the day most pleasantly. The steamer Wilmington made three trips, leaving on the first at 9 A. M. and second at 2:30 P. M. for Carolina Beach and Southport and the third at 7:30 P. M. for Carolina Beach. Not a few went to Southport on the morning trip and returned in the afternoon. The last boat from Carolina Beach returned to the city between 10 and 11 o'clock and it was crowded with passengers who had spent a most enjoyable day at the popular pleasure resort. A band was engaged and discoursed lively music throughout the day and there was dancing and other forms of amusement.

Having walked the entire distance, 192 miles in less than four days, Messrs. R. O. Colt and George Brown, two popular young men, arrived here Sunday morning at 7:35 o'clock from Charlotte, and are being pleasantly greeted by many friends in this city. The two young men and a companion left Charlotte last Wednesday at 12 o'clock on their tramping expedition, destination, Wilmington, but the third of the trio tired of the journey and turned back at Wingate, just beyond Wadesboro. Messrs. Colt and Brown had 50 cents each when they left Charlotte, but arrived with $2, having been given a "lift" by players on the Laurinburg baseball team. They arrived here in fine shape and declare that the long tramp proved as delightful as they anticipated. They will spend several days at the seashore.

GEORGIANS RETURN HOME.

Atlanta City Salesmen and Families Pleased With Beach.

After spending five days most delightfully at Wrightsville Beach, the city salesmen of Atlanta, Ga., who were at the resort on their annual outing, returned home Saturday. They were most favorably impressed with the beach, the fine service rendered by the Tidewater Power Company and were especially pleased with the cordiality of the reception and splendid accommodations of Hotel Tarrymoore, headquarters of the excursionists. All assured Mr. W. J. Moore, the popular manager, that they had never visited any place where more attention was shown them by the hotel management and stated that they expected to have their outing at Wrightsville Beach next season. A large number enjoyed the excellent fishing while at the beach as well as the various other sports.

The cost of a Business Local is a small fee to pay for securing a good tenant.

A Storekeeper Says:

"A lady came into my store lately and said:

"'I have been using a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove all winter in my apartment. I want one now for my summer home. I think these oil stoves are wonderful. If only women knew what a comfort they are, they would all have one. I spoke about my stove to a lot of my friends, and they were astonished. They thought that there was smell and smoke from an oil stove, and that it heated a room just like any other stove. I told them of my experience, and one after another they got one, and now, not one of them would give hers up for five times its cost.'"

The lady who said this had thought an oil stove was all right for quickly heating milk for a baby, or boiling a kettle of water, or to make coffee quickly in the morning, but she never dreamed of using it for difficult or heavy cooking. Now—she knows.

Do you really appreciate what a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove means to you? No more coal to carry, no more coming to the dinner table so tired out that you can't eat. Just light a Perfection Stove and immediately the heat from an intense blue flame shoots up to the bottom of pot, kettle or oven. But the room isn't heated. There is no smoke, no smell, no outside heat, no drudgery in the kitchen where one of these stoves is used.

Cautionary Note: Be sure you get this stove—see that the name-plate reads "New Perfection."

THE POTASH SITUATION.

State Department to Take Matter Up With Germany.

Washington, July 3.—Potash, which is produced only in Germany, having been gradually advanced in price, the State department has determined to take the matter up, in order to reach some understanding with German officials. It is now probable that the department will send experts to Berlin to discuss the subject directly with the proper officials and to assist the embassy in seeking an adjustment.

The price of potash has a radical effect upon the price of fertilizers used by American farmers. The price of potash is also important because it involves heavy American contracts resulting from recent German legislation.

EMBRYO ENGINEER RELEASED.

Young Meares Returned Sunday to His Home Near Councils.

L. G. Meares, the young white man arrested Friday after a wild ride on a Coast Line shifter on the local yards, was released from custody Sunday and returned in the afternoon with his father to his home near Councils, no charge having been preferred against him. The railroad officials were convinced that the youth was mentally unbalanced and did not desire to prosecute the case against him. The father was accompanied by several friends who were ready to give bond for the young man had it been required. They stated to hall officers that the young man had never been "real bright" and that he frequently wandered away from home and be absent for days at the time. However, they had never heard of him attempting to run a locomotive engine before. The father of the youth is a farmer and lives some 12 miles from Councils and is a man of some prominence in the community in which he lives.

HON. CHAMP CLARK FOR TAMMANY HALL

fied and began to demand a revision downward. First there were only what the doctors call sporadic cases of Republican dissatisfaction; but the Republican dissenters increased so rapidly that in the Spring of 1908 Hon. Sereno E. Payne, chairman of the great committee on Ways and Means, and ex-officio Republican floor leader in the House, was driven into declaring that he violated no confidence in stating that the Republicans would revise the tariff. His statement was equivocal, as he did not say whether the revision was to be down or up, but, considering all the circumstances under which his utterance was made, he intended it to be understood as a promise of revision downward; and to do him perfect justice he claims that his bill is a revision downward.

"Clearly, he has been imposed upon by his arithmeticians, for his bill revises it up about 1.71 per cent. on the average. His declaration, however, did not allay the clamor among Republicans. It swelled into such a roar that when the Republicans held their national convention in 1908, they were forced to promise tariff revision in their platform. Again the promise was equivocal, as it did not state whether the revision was to be up or down. But the demand for tariff revision downward was so strong and so insistent that a majority of Republican orators and editors declared that the revision was to be downward. On that promise they won. Having got in, they proceeded to revise it upward. So that in the impending campaign the overshadowing issue is whether men in conducting a campaign are under obligation to tell the truth or whether they are licensed to palter in a double sense—to keep the word of promise to the ear and break it to the hope. Query: Is it any less dishonest to secure offices under false pretenses than to obtain money in that felonious manner?

"President Taft himself admitted in his Winona speech that the woolen goods schedule is too high and ought to be reduced. I agree with him on that; so do you all. Why then have they not reduced it? It is 11 months lacking one day since he signed the Payne-Aldrich-Smoot tariff bill. He is a Republican. Both Houses of Congress are Republicans by overwhelming majorities. As the Democratic floor leader in the House I guaranteed that if the President would send in a message urging that the woolen goods schedule be cut to a reasonable basing, so that the people could have cheaper clothing and cheaper blankets, and Mr. Chairman Payne would report such a bill and put it upon its passage, every Democrat would vote for it, and every Democrat in the House applauded my offer, thereby proving that I spoke their sentiments. That was on May 21, but the President has never sent in any such message and Mr. Chairman Payne has never reported any such bill.

"Every newspaper in the land that commented on my offer to the President, said that it was a fair proposition and should be accepted. By reason of Republican refusal to cure that great outrage hundreds of thousands of people must shiver and freeze through the ensuing Winter. Doctors and philanthropists are waging war against the great White Plague, which the woolen goods schedule of the Payne-Aldrich-Smoot tariff bill dies so much to foster. Shame upon men who will not remedy such a gross outrage, an outrage whose existence they admit, an outrage which causes incalculable sickness, suffering and death, an outrage which they have abundant power to stop!

"If we have the next House, as I believe we will have, we will honestly and courageously report a bill to revise the tariff down to a revenue basis, pass it through the House and send it over to the Senate. Perhaps by that time the Senate, yielding to the public demand, will also pass it. If it does not, we will go to the people on that issue in 1912.

"A Democrat is a man who believes in Democratic principles and who votes the Democratic ticket. In recent years there has been much straggling from the ranks. I cordially invite all backsliders to come back home. I also heartily invite all others who are dissatisfied with Republican misrule and Republican extravagance to join with us in the crusade for the overthrow of the Republican machine. We will give them a warm welcome, not inquiring too closely into their political pedigrees or political antecedents. The doors stand wide open. There is no mourner's bench in the Church Democratic. Even life-long Republicans will be welcomed on the good old principle that,

"While the lamp holds out to burn
The vilest sinner may return."

JOHN BARRETT SPEAKS.

Talks of Twenty Latin American Republics to South of Us.

Philadelphia, July 4.—"Today the greatest foreign problems and responsibilities of the United States government are in the twenty Latin American Republics lying to the south of us," declared John Barrett, director of the International Bureau of American Republics, in addressing a notable gathering in Independence Hall in this city today.

"Seventy-five per cent. of the time and energy of the State Department is consumed in the consideration of its Latin-American problems," he added. "It is therefore not true as occasionally intimated, that the United States as a government is neglectful or unappreciative of its sister American governments."

Mr. Barrett scouted the idea that Latin-America, taken as a whole, was a land of revolution.

"Despite the fact that the center of the stage has been occupied for a considerable period by one country in Central America, two thirds of the entire area and population of Latin-America have known no civil war worthy of the name of revolution during the last decade and a half and today four of the five Central American countries are peaceful and entering upon a new era of prosperity and progress," he said. "I venture to predict that when the present strife in Nicaragua is once concluded—and I believe that much desired day is not far distant—there will follow a period of material development in that resourceful, though disturbed, country which will gratify its numerous well wishers. The sentiment also in favor of the formation of one strong Central American republic, to include Gautemala, Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica, is growing and though its evolution may be slow, it is sure to come in the logic of events."

Giving Secretary Knox much credit for the negotiations which resulted in averting a costly war between Peru and Ecuador, Mr. Barrett expressed the belief that that action had established a precedent throughout the world for the concert of nations in the cause of international peace.

The attention that had been given to Latin-America, he said, had been justified by the commercial development which had taken place as the result of diplomatic and other efforts. "The latest returns of commerce show the remarkable fact that Latin-America bought and sold in trade last year with the rest of the world products valued at the vast total of $2,125,000,000. Ten years ago the corresponding commerce was valued at only $925,000,000. In other words, these twenty ambitious sister countries, which our people and press have a tendency to overlook in their flirtations with Europe and Asia, increased their foreign commerce $1,200,000,000 or 125 per cent. in the very short time of ten years. No other continental group of countries can show a similar percentage of growth.

"As a corollary to this proposition it can be stated that the commerce of the United States with Latin-America is not small, and it is not being driven from the field by European competition, as often described by superficial observers. While the trade of the United States with these sister republics could, and would, be larger if our exporters and importers in general devoted the same attention to it as they do to Canada, Europe and Asia, it is gratifying and significant that the exchange of trade between the United States and the twenty Latin-American countries has doubled itself, or increased 100 per cent. in the short period of the last ten years, and now amounts to the annual and notable total of $600,000,000. This is larger than the sum total of commerce which any European country, not even excepting Great Britain or Germany, conducts with Latin-America."

Mr. Barrett claimed for the State Department and the Bureau of American Republics the chief credit for this great expansion of trade.

The address also contained a pleasant reference to President Diaz and his administration of the affairs of Mexico, Mr. Barrett deprecating as unfortunate much of the criticism that has been aimed at Diaz and Mexico.

Burgaw, N. C., July 4.—Burgaw won three games of baseball today, one from a team from the Wilmington Y. M. C. A. and a double-header from Wallace. The Wilmington team put up a good game and lost only by a small score the final being 5 to 4.

The Wallace team was outclassed, the scores being 15 to 3 and 14 to 7 in the two games.

STOCK MARKET FOR YEAR

Disappointment Marked Closing of Past Half Year—Coused by Former Excesses—Extravagance in Industry and Home Life.

New York, July 3.—Last year the speculation in stocks carried prices by October to the highest level touched for a generation in the stocks selected for the active operation of the financial groups which were fomenting the speculation. The campaign was based on the professed confidence that the present year was to see a degree of prosperous activity in this country unparalleled in its previous history. It is a coincidence that the last day of the half year saw the lowest prices for stocks at the New York stock exchange since early in 1908 when the revival from the depression of 1907 was first setting in.

The responsibility for the disappointment of the present year may be traced to the excesses of last year in more than one direction.

The more sober sense of the financial community deprecated the too rapid inflation of securities prices. The recuperation was too rapid to prove sound and lasting. The stimulated movement in stocks was not reflected as it was designed to be in a feverish revival of demand for various commodities without giving time for the accumulation of capital in saving or for the correction of weaknesses left by the crisis of 1907.

Inflation of values checked the country's exports and expanded imports to abnormal volume. Money was tied up in speculation in commodities, land purchases, irrigation projects, automobiles and extravagant living and industrial methods.

The conviction long held that there were important speculative commitments of long standing in the stock market was strengthened by the events of last week. These holdings were based on an obstinate disregard of the trend of events and a refusal to recognize the disappointments which the present year has brought forth. Reliance was placed on some fresh factor to correct the mistakes of the previous excesses. Palliation of the severity of public opinion and government policies towards corporations was hoped for. The sale of American railroad bonds abroad was expected to correct the anomaly of an excess value of merchandise imports. Finally great reliance was placed on a comprehensive advance in rates of compensation on railroad traffic.

At the same time it was hoped that correction of the faults in the situation would be accomplished gradually by reduction of prices and liquidation of excessive bank credits in a way to conserve the speculative position. The most powerful immediate factors in disappointing the hope were the government authorities to the plan of raising railroad rates.

The actual condition of general business which prompted the convulsive liquidation of stocks and influence in the banks to demand it remain to be fully learned.

IN THE DRY GOODS MARKET.

Cotton Mills Taking Advantage of Holiday to Order Curtailment.

New York, July 3.—The cotton mills of the country have taken advantage of the holiday to order a curtailment of production in a large way which will extend throughout the week and be continued at intervals during the life of the current cotton crop. The crop shortage and slow demand for merchandise are the reasons.

At the lower prices that have been currnt recently on convertibles purchases have been freer but mills have been unwilling to sell beyond September and have devoted most of their selling to spot and nearby deliveries.

Bleached goods which were reduced a short time ago were advanced 1-4 cent a yard to a basis of 8 3-4 for fruit-of-the-loom 4-4 goods and this price is guaranteed until October. There is better demand for Spring goods which are now being opened.

The hot weather has enlivened the interest in sheet materials and the jobbers have done well on them. Domestics are still being purchased in a hand to mouth way.

SENSATION AT HIGH POINT

Physician and His Wife in Jail for Causing Death of Young Statesville Girl—Couple Made Business of Malpractice.

(Special to Charlotte Observer.)

High Point, July 3.—One of the saddest tragedies that ever occurred here happened last night when a young girl by the name of Bessie Thomasson of Statesville died at the home of Dr. W. L. Vestal on account of an illegal operation which had been performed by Dr. Vestal last Tuesday night.

The police were notified about the condition of the young girl just a short time before she died and when they arrived at the home of Dr. Vestal they not only found the one who is now dead, but also found another young girl who gave her name as May Owen from Linwood, and who was in a serious condition. She had also gone through the same operation.

Last night about 11 o'clock Drs. stanton and McAnally were called to the home of Dr. Vestal to see Bessie Thomasson and they at once saw that the girl was in a most critical condition. They suggested to Dr. Vestal that the patient be taken to the hospital for treatment and made the arrangements but it was soon learned that the girl was at that time in a dying condition and that to remove her would be only hastening her death. At about 12 o'clock she died after having a number of spasms. May Owen, the other girl, was removed to the hospital by the policeman and her condition tonight seems some better, but is yet regarded as serious.

Bessie Thomasson came here last Sunday night from her home at Statesville without the knowledge of her father, to receive treatment from Dr. Vestal. She was induced to come here by a young man named Levy Maynard of this city who it is claimed is the man who got the girl in trouble. Maynard lived in Statesville for quite a while, during which time he met the young girl and was keeping company with her. An old woman by the name of Susan Darr, who lives on Reid street, was engaged by Maynard Friday morning at 9 o'clock to go to the home of Dr. Vestal and nurse the girl. Before the coroner's inquest she stated that as soon as she arrived she learned what the trouble was and also found the girl in a critical condition.

Yesterday afternoon Dr. J. R. Reitzel was called to see the patients by Dr. Vestal. Dr. Reitzel informed Mrs. Vestal that one of the girls was dangerously sick and should be removed to the hospital. At first Dr. Reitzel was told that Dr. Vestal was sick and wished to see him, but later they also told him that they wanted him to see two girls who had been stopping with them for about a week. Later Bessie Thomasson told Dr. Reitzel that an illegal operation had been performed on her by Dr. Vestal.

This afternoon at 3 o'clock a coroner's inquest was held by Coroner W. W. Wood of Greensboro, and County Attorney John N. Wilson also of Greensboro. At the inquest the following witnesses were examined by the county attorney: Dr. J. R. Reitzel, Dr. W. J. McAnally, Dr. D. A. Stanton, Undertaker J. W. Sechrest, R. H. Sechrest, Mrs. Susan Darr. The verdict of the jury was as follows: "The deceased came to her death by the unlawful act of one Dr. W. L. Vestal and and that Levy Maynard and Mrs. W. L. Vestal were accessories to the same."

There was a post-mortem examination held immediately after the jury met by Dr. Fortune of Greensboro, county physician, Dr. D. A. Stanton and Dr. J. R. Reitzel. At this examination all the evidence submitted was substantiated.

The whole city is aroused over the matter and all day long Main street near the undertaking establishment of J. W. Sechrest has been the scene of crowds of men gathered discussing the affair. Everybody seems to be of the same opinion about the matter and all express themselves as being glad that the malpractice of this physician will be broken up. All the doctors who were examined before the jury stated that the reputation of Dr. Vestal was bad and that they had been informed that he had been doing this work for some time.

When the officers arrested Vestal last night he was not rational but seems to be under influence of some drug. For some time it has been known that he was taking too much dope and a glance at the suroundings of the place where he has been living was enough to convince any one that he had lost all professional pride. Of late he has been doing very little practice in the city. About four years ago it was reported that Dr. Vestal had performed an operation on a young lady in Goldsboro who almost died from the same. He very suddenly disappeared from here at that time and remained away for about a year. Since that time he has been residing here. Mrs. Vestal bears a bad reputation here also and it is alleged has assisted her husband in his illegal practice. When Dr. Vestal came to this city about eight years ago from Yadkin county he soon enjoyed a good practice among the working class of people and was respected by all but for the past few years he has been getting little practice and gradually losing out.

It can not be learned who the man is who is implicated in the case of the girl now in the hospital, May Owen. It is reported tonight that she has made a full confession to Chief of Police Ridge but the chief refuses to give out any information as yet.

Mr. W. H. Thomasson, father of the dead girl, arrived here at 1 o'clock today and was present at the coroner's inquest. He examined the body and identified the same as being that of his daughter. He said she left home without his knowledge but that he had heard a few days ago that she was here. He knew nothing of her condition until this morning when he was notified of her death. Thomasson is a man of about 48 years and is employed by the Statesville Furniture Company in Statesville.

Levy Maynard has been married but lost his wife about two years ago, he has two small children. Tonight Maynard had not been arrested but it is believed that he will be apprehended soon, as he left here on train No. 8 this morning at 6:30 o'clock. Those who saw him yesterday say Maynard was in an excited condition all day and last night when he called upon Drs. Stanton and McAnally he seemed exceedingly anxious about the Thomasson girl and informed the physicians that he wanted them to do all in their power to save the girl, at the same time assuring them that money would be no object. Maynard is a man of some means and was employed here as a foreman of the Dalton Furniture Company for a number of years.

Dr. Vestal is almost a physical wreck and no one has been permitted to see him today at the city jail. This afternoon at 6 o'clock Dr. Vestal and Mrs. Vestal were removed to the county jail at Greensboro.

It seems to be the consensus of opinion that these horrible crimes have been committed by Vestal for a number of years and the physicians here have been frequently mortified would be stated that the act was committed by a High Point physician, by reports of these crimes, when it From the evidence that has been produced it is very serious for the accused and will no doubt end his malpractice.

Undertaker Sechrest has embalmed the body and it will be shipped to Statesville tomorrow morning. Mr. Sherrill, of Statesville, a friend of the Thomassons, is here with the father and is looking after all the arrangements.

THE LIBERTY OF THE NATION

Address of Governor Kitchin Yesterday Before National Education at Harvard University—South Mistaken.

Boston, July 4.—Upon the teachers of America, to whom is entrusted the training of American citizenship, rests in large measure the burden of preserving the liberty of the Nation, said W. W. Kitchin, Governor of North Carolina, in an address today to the National Education Association in the stadium of Harvard university. The chief need of the citizenship, he said, is more intellect and conscience.

Gov. Kitchin began his address by referring to the birth of the Republic, the wisdom of its founders, and the Civil war. The South, he said, had been mistaken in thinking that it could prosper without the North. Rising from defeat, he said, the South "marched forward as if by magic steps, an unstinted devotion to the American spirit filling every man."

"The South," he continued, "stands erect in her dignity and power, proud of the North and the West, her heart filled with good will to all, malice to none."

In referring to evidences of greatness in his own State the speaker among other things touched on financial conditions.

"Last month," he said, "North Carolina had to sell a few million dollars of 4 per cent. refunding bonds. The financial market in the money centres would not absorb them, as investments could be secured with a greater rate. We called the North Carolina bankers together and explained the situation. They promptly oversubscribed the unsold portion and thus made our third declaration of independence. These bonds are legitimate, and are unrelated to the illegitimate special tax bonds of 1868-9, which were conceived in sin and brought forth in iniquity, which profited only those who pillaged; and which have from the time of their birth been hawked over the country and sold by the bushel—never bought as investments, but secured on the speculator's table, gambling in the fraud of adventures in the attempted plunder of a commonwealth, and trusting for collection to the methods of the blackmailer.

"Today in material development, in resources, in energy, in all that makes national power, we are a greater people than Alexander or Caesar of Bonaparte ever knew," the Governor continued, "but let him that standeth take heed lest he fall.' Most nations die as most men die, from internal causes. What shall it profit a nation to circle the earth with power, emblazon the seas with prestige and command homage from every capital, and yet fail to remedy domestic evils, forget justice, hear not the cry of the needy, and check not the wrongs of the mighty? Our forefathers faced no greater problems than this generation has to solve. Every age has its own interests, its own rights to preserve.

"As civilization becomes more and more complex the methods of oppression keep pace therewith, and every generation requires more and more intelligence to resist them. In former times we had the highway robber—we now have the gold brick swindler; then we had oppressive tax levies to support privileged classed, now we have the industrial monopolist. Then we needed more force, now more intellect and conscience.

"We are safe from foreign foes, we must be safe from domestic ills. Foreign dangers are always direct, and bold, domestic ones are indirect, shrewd, insidious. It may require force—armies and navies to repel the former; it requires wisdom, diligence and honor to overcome the latter. A country whose government rests upon the will of the people, in order to have a certainly just government, whose burdens are levied, and whose blessings are distributed impartially, must have a high class citizenship—so intelligent that it cannot be deceived, so conscientious that it cannot be corrupted, so courageous that it cannot be intimidated.

"The training of this citizenship largely depends upon the teachers of America. You are the worthiest band of captains the world ever knew—leading the grand army of the Republic—the boys and girls of America, against the forces of injustice, ignorance and prejudice—leading them to victory in the fields of light and truth."

TWO NEGROES LYNCHED.

Mob Wreaks Summary Vengeance on Planter's Slayers.

Charleston, Mo., July 3.—Two negroes were lynched here this afternoon for the murder of William Fox, a planter of Mississippi county. They were taken from the county jail by a large crowd of infuriated citizens, who broke down the doors with sledge hammers shortly after 4 o'clock. The negroes were alleged to have shot Fox in the back while riding in his wagon about two miles from town last night.

He died after identifying his assailants. This morning farmers began to arrive in town, and, alarmed by threats of lynching, Sheriff Culp appealed to Governor Hadley for assistance and swore in a number of deputies. The sheriff's deputies were powerless to check the mob, however.

It required two hours to break into the jail. Then the men rushed in on the frightened negroes and, with yells, took them outside. One negro was hanged in the jail yard, after he confessed his guilt. The other negro was hurried into an automobile and taken to the spot where he had hid the revolver with which Fox was shot. This weapon obtained, the negro was taken back to Charleston.

NEEDS DRY, WARM WEATHER.

Commercial Appeal's Weekly Review of Cotton Crop Conditions.

Memphis, Tenn., July 4.—The Commercial Appeal weekly cotton review today says:

Owing to excessive rainfall east of the Mississippi river and in Arkansas and Louisiana, cultivation over a large area was suspended during the week and grass has become a menace. For the best development of the crop, dry warm weather is imperative.

In Oklahoma and Texas moderate to light rains relieved an incipient drouth.

The crop in those two States is late and small but has begun to grow very rapidly, and aside from its lack of size there is no complaint, fields being in an excellent state of cultivation. Heavier and more generals rains, however, would be very helpful.

In Louisiana, Arkansas and Mississippi boll weevils are becoming more numerous and in the former States are reported as already at work on the cotton.

JEFFRIES IS KNOCKED OUT IN FIFTEEN ROUND MILL

ed with blood. With trembling legs and yielding arms, he tried to put up a defense, but he could not stop a terrific right smash to the jaw, followed by two left hooks. He went down again. Jeffries' physician and other friends jumped into the ring.

"Stop it," they cried. "Don't put the old fellow out."

Sam Berger, Jeffries' manager, ran along the ring, calling to Bob Armstrong: "Bring that towel; you know what I mean, don't let him get hit."

From Johnson's corner his seconds were calling to him to quit. Then the referee stopped the timekeeper and it was all over.

The soothing liquids were applied to the fallen champion's bruised face, but his heart was something that could not be reached. As soon as he regained his sense of persons and of the rapid fire events that had pushed him into oblivion, he took his head in his hands and groaned. "I was too old to come back," he said.

Corbett and Joe Choynski and Brother Jack and others were ready to cry, but they united in trying to cheer the defeated man.

"It's all with you," said Corbett, "but you did the best you could.'

"Cheer up, we'll go fishing tomorrow," said Frank Gotch, the wrestling champion.

In an instant after the crowd realized that the fight was over, the ring was stampeded by a wild throng. The short end betting men were hilarious, but in the great mass of spectators there was a feeling of personal loss. Hope had lived in thousands of breasts at the last minute and now their idol had crumbled and this black man stood peerless. They could not help but admire him and there was little sympathy shown. Hundreds swallowed the bitter pill of heavy financial loss.

Little enthusiasm was shown before the fight was shown until Jack Johnson and his crew were seen stringing down the aisle. Then the crowd stood up and cheered, as much from pent up excitement as anything else.

This was 2:28 o'clock, an hour after the schedule time of the fight. Four minutes later Jeffries loomed out of the crowd on the other side of the arena and then the cheering broke loose again.

The ring was crowded with trainers and rubbers and seconds. Jeffries laughed as he pressed through the ropes and jumped up and down on the platform for a moment, satisfying himself that it was strong enough. He wore his old soft cap and an old suit of clothes and chewed gum. Johnson wore a bath-robe with violet lining.

Berger walked up to Johnson and asked him to toss for corners.

"Take any corner you want," said Johnson. "It's all the same to me.'

Berger took the southwest corner and gave Johnson the Northeast. This placed the sun in Johnson's eyes.

Behind the fighters as the bandages were fastened stood pupil and master, Corbett and Billy Delaney. The veteran Delaney made the match of keener interest to the sporting men.

Johnson tried to put his uppercut through but Jeffries still possessed the quickness to snap his head out of danger.

Johnson waited for a lead and then put a hard left to the body but Jeffries stopped it with his glove. As the round ended he hit Johnson in the ribs in a way that was not relished.

The tenth was rather slow, Jeffries brushing away the head blows as he would brush away flies, and trying always for that terrible body punch Jeffries also tried to wear down Jack by his weight in the clinches. But Johnson did about an equal amount of shoving and succeeded in getting his new left cut to the face several times.

The eleventh, which marked the final toboggan for Jeffries, opened carefully. Johnson let loose and kept his man's head bobbing constantly. In a clinch Johnson landed three uppercuts and Jeffries began to show distress. He was slowing down. A hard right to the nose sent the blood spattering.

Johnson waited, then drew back and hooked Jeffries hard in the face. Jeffries looked tired, but whacked away at the body, drawing forth only a pretty exhibition of boxing on the part of the black man. Jeffries spat out a great quantity of blood as he walked to his corner and Johnson fairly beamed confidence.

The thirteenth round showed rapid dissolution on Jeffries' part. Following Corbett's advice he stuck to the clinch until he was forced away. Then he received two lefts and a right upper-cut to the face. After that Johnson played with him. Holding Jeffries with his right on the shoulder, Johnson fairly rained left blows to the face and Jeffries wilted. He continued to come on, however, with his eye almost closed and his legs sinking.

In the fourteenth Jeffries walked into a left and then failed to get his own lefts home. The wonderful work of the negro was never in better evidence than here. He was simply unhittable.

"How you like 'em Jim?" he asked the silent Jeffries. To the end of the round he continued to give more of them.

Johnson opened up his heavy battery at the beginning of the fatal round. It seemed no great effort to him to finish at all. There was only one side to it.

Less than an hour of fighting had served to bring to an end the career of a man hitherto believed by many invincible.

By Rounds.

At 2:45 P. M., they came up. Jeffries walked and feinted, both smiled and Johnson gave ground.

Johnson led a straight left and landed lightly on Jeffries' face. They were cautioned and clinched. Johnson shoved Jeffries away. Jeffries shoved a left to the neck and in the clinch sent a right to the body. Johnson responded with a light left and they were breast to breast trying for blows. As they broke Jeffries sent a left to Johnson's neck.

Johnson responded with a left and continued to stand breast to breast trying for the short inside blows. As they broke Jeffries sent a left to Johnson's neck and the negro stepped in but missed. Time.

The gong rang when they clinched. The fighting was tame and they turned to their corners, Jeffries tapped Johnson on the shoulder and smiled.

Round Two—Jeffries assumed his crouch, but missed his first attempt. Johnson feinted but Jeffries stepped nimbly away. Jack sent a left to Jeffries' face and as they clinched tipped in a hard upper-cut to Jeffries' chin. Jeffries sent a right to the ribs and took a left on the face at close quarters. Jeffries crouched and waited for Johnson, but he was not willing. They came together without a blow and Johnson tried his upper-cut but missed. Jeffries put his right on Jack's shoulders and pushed him when they broke Jack shot his left hard to Jeffries' face and tried his upper-cut, but missed again. There was a lot of wrestling and not much fighting. The gong rang without a good blow being struck.

Round Three—"Take it easy, Jeffries," said Corbett as they walked to the centre. Jeffries smiled and led for the head with a left but missed. Johnson hooked a stiff left to the body and right to the head but neither blow was hard. They shoved and pushed each other about the ring. Jeffries hooked a left to the body and got under Johnson's right. Jeffries stood breast to breast and they held and shoved about the ring. Johnson sent two left jabs to the face and tried his right to the chin but missed the latter. Jeffries smiled at the left blows and continued to bore in. It was simply a wrestling bout thus far. Jeffries kept walking on calmly, but missed a left body blow, Jack blocking them perfectly.

Jeffries did not seem to breathe hard but Johnson appeared nervous as he was rubbed down.

Round Four.—Jeffries took his crouching position again and walked in. He missed and they came together in a lock. Johnson tried his right for the chin but missed and they began an exchange of talk.

"Don't rush, Jim, don't you hear what I'm telling you?" said Johnson as Jeffries forced him back and they came to a clinch.

Round Five.—Jeffries walked straight out to Jack and tried to land his left. They both sparred carefully and Jeffries led for the body and was blocked. In the clinch that followed Jeffries shoved Jack back easily when they broke Jack swung his left for the body but missed. Johnson shot an upper-cut and cut Jeffries lip slightly. As they broke Jack landed a left to the face and Jeffries came right back with a left on the body. Johnson held Jeffries' arms and as they broke Jack again tried to upper-cut. He missed but stung Jeffries on the face with a left. "Go on, Jeffries," shouted Corbett. "That left is a joke."

Jeffries stepped in and shot a straight left to the black's head and the crowd cheered. The gong found them in a clinch. The pace was slow up to this time with no damage to either man.

Round Six.—Again Jeffries crouched. They stepped around each other, Johnson trying to send a stiff left to the jaw. One cut Jeffries' cheek a bit. Again they lolled in each other's embrace, but neither was willing to take a chance.

Jeffries rushed but missed a left for the body and took a left on the chest in return. Johnson kept up a running flow of talk to Jeffries when they came to a clinch but Jeffries calmly chewed gum and waded in. He missed Jack with a left and took a left and a right on the head. Jack got a left on the face. Jack closed Jeffries' right eye. Jack missed two rights. Jeffries' nose was bleeding when the gong sounded. When Jeffries took his seat his seconds got busy with his eye, but Jeffries assured them that it was all right and they only sponged his face. Johnson's round.

Round Seven—Jeffries walked right in but before he had a chance Jack led with right and left and missed. Jeffries' eye was badly swollen and he rubbed it with his glove. He feinted and tried to draw Johnson on but the negro declined to come in. Jeffries stepped in with a left for the body but missed it and took a left on the head. Jeffries hooked a left to the head and Johnson laughed loudly. Jeffries got a left on the face twice at close range. Jeffries butted his way into another clinch but failed to land. He drew Jack's lead and shot a left to the face. Jack's lips bled. In a close quarter mix Jack sent his left to the face twice and Jim's lip bled. This round was somewhat faster.

Round Eight.—"Come on, Jeffries," said Jack as they faced each other. Jeffries came on and got a left in the face. He missed Jack's body with a left and took two lefts on the face. "Hello Jimmy," said Jack to Corbett as he leaned on Jeffries.

"Did you see that one," Jeffries walked into a left to the face and again they mauled each other without damage at close range. "Come on, break" said Jeffries as Jack held his gloves. Rickard did not touch the men but allowed them to take their time. Jim missed twice with his left and took a left on the face.

Jeffries shoved Jack about seemingly with ease. The gong found them locked. Johnson's blows up to now had been snappier and cleaner but outside of a bruised eye Jeffries was not hurt.

Round Nine.—Jeffries walked in a left to the chest. "Make him fight, Jim," yelled Corbett. "Never mind, just wait," responded Johnson. Johnson tried a left for the body. Jeffries got inside of it and putting his head against Jack's chest shoved the negro to the ropes. Jeffries took it all calmly, seemed to be waiting. Jack failed for the head, he stepped quickly and shot a left hard for the body but Jeffries' glove was there first. Jeffries received two jabs on the face; no damage. He swung his left arm around Jack's neck as they came together. His wrist landed hard on the ribs and Johnson did not appear to like it.

Round Ten.—They came up quickly. Jack shot a left to the face but Jeffries brushed it away and responded with a left to the body. Jack again missed a lightning right for the jaw and they hauled about the ring in a clinch. Jeffries put his shoulder against Johnson's body and shoved him back. Johnson sent a left upper-cut to the mouth and as they broke missed a right for the jaw. Jeffries got under a left lead and seemed to want to wear Jack out by bearing down his weight and shoving him about. Jeffries struck two lefts to Jack's face and he got one in return.

Johnson took two lefts in the face when they broke. Johnson stepped in quickly and shot a left to the body just as the gong rang.

Jeffries appeared to be fresh as he waited for the gong and watched Jack. Johnson was also fresh but appeared less at ease, as he frowned at Jeffries.

FLASH—Johnson wins in 15th round with knockout.

Round Eleven.—They walked up carefully, Jeffries finally trying his left once to find it blocked. He took a left on the face three times; but smiled and talked to Jack in the clinches. They broke away and Jack sent a stiff left upper-cut to the face and a right to the body. He kept Jeffries bobbing his head to escape the right upper-cut whenever they got together. In a clinch Jack sent three upper-cuts to the face in quick succession and Jeffries appeared tired. They shoved about, Jeffries with his head on Jack's shoulder and when they finally broke Jack hooked his left hard to the nose. The blood flowed from Jeffries' nose and lips. He appeared slow compared with Jack's snappy blows. Just before time Jeffries rushed in with left and right to body, but Jack was going away and was not hurt. Decidedly Johnson's round.

Round Twelve.—Jim walked ever forward waiting for a chance to get inside the negro's impenetrable defence, Jack simply waited and then threw back or hooked a left to the face.

"Thought you said you were going to have me wild," said Johnson. Jeffries said nothing.

Jeffries shoved and butted in till his head rested on the black man's shoulder and then tried to rip in body blows. They were blocked almost before they were started and the negro's boxing drew a cheer from the crowd. Jeffries forced his way to close quarters but got a left on the sore nose for his reward. His nose bled freely and as he turned to take his seat at the gong he spat out a mass of blood.

Jeffries was not worried apparently and looked fresh. Johnson seemed to gain confidence as the fight proceeded.

Round Thirteen.—Putting his right glove before his face Jeffries walked into a clinch without a blow. When they broke Johnson sent a left to the body and a right upper-cut touched the chin. "Stick there, Jim" shouted Corbett. Then he took two left and a right upper-cut to the face in quick succession and then upper-cut to the face. Jeffries seemed tired and slow. He could not solve the negro's defense and took all the blows that came his way. Jack stood back and swung left to the face then calmly clinched. Jeffries continued to come in in spite of the punishment. This round was all Johnson's. Jeffries' eye was almost closed.

"Cover up," said Corbett between rounds. "You will get him."

Round Fourteen.—Jeffries walked straight into a left and they hung on to each other. Jack tapped the big fellow on the face with left twice and blocked Jeffries' attempt at close fighting. Shambling forward Jeffries took three straight lefts to the face and got in a left to the face lightly. Jeffries' lefts were simply picked out of the air by the clever negro before they could get within six inches of his face.

"How do you feel, Jim?" said Jack, as they clinched. "How you like 'em?"

Jeffries was sober and made no response. He walked into three lefts in quick succession. "They don't hurt," said Jeffries. "I'll give you some of them now," said Jack, and he proceeded to send two lefts to the face.

Round Fifteen.—When the men faced each other, it was plain to all that Jeffries was in distress. His face was puffed and bleeding from the punishing lefts and rights he had received, and his movements were languid. He shambled after the elusive negro, sometimes crouching low with his left hand stuck out in front, and sometimes standing erect. Stooping or erect, he was a mark for Johnson's accurately driven blows. Johnson simply waited for the big white man to come in, and chopped his face to pieces. They came into a clinch after a feeble attempt by Jeffries to land a left hand blow on the body, and as they broke away, Johnson shot his left and right to the jaw in a flash. Jeffries staggered back against the ropes. His defensive power seemed to desert him in an instant. Johnson went at him like a tiger. A rain of lefts and rights delivered at close quarters sent Jeffries reeling blindly.

Another series of short, snappy punches, and the big white giant went down for the first time in his ring career. He fell under to top rope, over the lower one, and on to the overhanging of the platform. Resting on his haunches and right elbow, Jeffries looked around in a dazed way, and got up at the count of nine. While he was down Johnson stood almost over him until Rickard waved him back. He stood ready to strike and when Jeffries rose from his knees, he dashed in again. Jeffries reeld about and tried to clinch, but Johnson eluded him and as the old champion swung around to the south side of the ring, Johnson jolted him twice on the jaw. Jeffries sank to his knees, weak and tired, but got up again at the count of nine. It was then that Jeffries' friends began to call to Rickard to stop the fight.

"Stop, stop it," they shouted from all sides.

"Don't let him be knocked out."

Rickard gave no heed to these appeals. Jeffries was helpless now, and as he staggered to a standing position the negro was waiting for him. A left, a right, and another left, short, snappy, powerful blows, found their mark on Jeffries' chin and he went down for the third time. Again he sprawled over the lower rope, hanging half outside the ring. The time-keeper raised and lowered his arm, tolling off the seconds. He had reached the count of seven when some of Jeffries' seconds put foot inside the ropes and Rickard walked between the fallen man and the negro champion. Placing his hand on Johnson's shoulder, he declared him the winner. While Jeffries was not counted out, this was a merely technical evasion. It was evident that he could never have got up inside of ten seconds.

FROM "MR. JOHNSING"

Negro Pugilist Tells of His Victory With Jeffries.

Reno, Nev., July 1.—By Jack Johnson: "I won from Mr. Jeffries because I outclassed him in every department of the fighting game. Before I entered the ring I was certain I would be the victor. I never changed my mind at any time.

"Jeffries' blows had no steam behind them. So how could he hope to defeat me? With the exception of a slight cut on my lower lip, which was really caused by an old wound being struck, I am unmarked. I am in shape to do battle again tomorrow if it were necessary.

"One thing I must give Jeffries credit for it the game battle he made. He came back at me with the heart of a true fighter. No man can say he did not do his best.

"I believe we both fought fairly. There was nothing said between us which was rough. He joked me and I joked him. I told him I knew he was a bear but I was a gorilla and would defeat him.

"For the next few weeks I shall play in vaudeville. Then I shall go to my home in Chicago to rest. I do not think I shall fight for several months, because I do not know a man now who could give me a good battle. No attention will be paid to Sam Langford challenges by me. I do not consider he could give me a fight."

Johnson will go to his Chicago home for a rest.

"I want to be with my mammy" said Jack.

A message was sent his mother immediately after the fight, telling her the result.

VOTE FAVORS A STRIKE

Pennsylvania Employes, Leaders Say, Urge Action on Demands.

Philadelphia, July 3.—Unofficial reports received by members of the conductor's and firemen's general grievance committee in the Pennsylvania Railway wage dispute indicate, it is said, that a heavy vote is being taken.

Officials of the company stated tonight that they did not believe the men would vote to strike, but members of the committee say that the vote when counted will show that the men favor immediate action unless the company grants concessions.

Members of the general committee have all returned to their homes to superintend the vote in their respective districts. Headquarters will be opened here in a few days, where the vote will be counted. Those voting on the proposed strike are the conductors, baggagemen, and brakemen, other employes are taking no part in the dispute.

Even should the vote show that a mapority of the men favor a strike, it is probable that arbitration will be resorted to. Members of the committee say that the possiblities of a tie up are remote.

NATIONAL EDUCATIONAL.

Taft and Kitchin Among the Guests Here Yesterday.

Boston, July 4.—The great Harvard stadium probably never held so cultured a throng nor resounded with such words of wisdom as at the gathering there today of the National Education Association when President William H. Taft, Governor W. W. Kitchin, of North Carolina ,and President David Starr Jordan, spoke to nearly 10,000 people massed in the huge bowl and grouped on the grass of the arena. Governor Draper, of Massachusetts, and Mayor Fitzgerald, of Boston, seized the opportunity of formally welcoming the delegates to the convention, while President Lowell, of Harvard, performed a similar duty for the university. It was an inspiring sight when the multitude rose and sang "America" with the Handel and Haydn Society of Boston as the leader.

President Taft was given a warm geeting as he rose to make the concluding address.

FROM JEFFRIES

Defeated Champion Talks of Elements of His Failure.

Reno, Nev., July 4.—By James J. Jeffries: "I lost my fight this afternoon but did not have the snap of youth I used to have. I believed in my own heart that all the old time dash was there but when I started to execute, the speed and youthful stamina were lacking. The things I used to do were impossible.

"I suppose most of my trainers and helpers will say that I did not box often enough. It would not have made any difference if I had sparred a dozen times oftener than I did. I simply was not there and that's all there is to it.

"I guess its my own fault. I was getting along nicely and living peacefully on my alfalfa farm but when they started calling for me and mentioning me as 'the white man's hope' I guess my pride got the better of my good judgment. At that I worked long and hard to condition myself and I was fit, so far as strength goes, but the old necessary snap and dash, the willingness to tear in and crush were not with me.

"Six years ago the result would have been different but now—well, I guess the public will let me alone after this."

DAWSON FROM BURNMAN

Indianapolis, Ind., July 4.—Dawson, driving a Marmon car, today snatched the victory from Burman (Marquette-Buick) in the last five miles of the annual 200 mile race for the Cobe trophy at the motor speedway today. Burman, who had led nearly all the long way, flashed over wire of the electrical timing machine only three seconds behind the winner. A pause for a new tire at the 195th mile cost him the race.
